Minnesota Clinches Victory for Kennedy

GOP Retains Firm Control of Legislature

Democrats Pick Up One In Senate, 8 Assembly

Republicans Hold 33-25, 84-66 Leads In Albany; Schoeneck Is Major Loss

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Victorious Democrats strengthened their position in the New York State Legislature in Tuesday's balloting but Republicans retained firm control of both houses.

Besides providing a victory margin for Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democrats gained one seat in the State Senate, eight in the Assembly and ousted one of the Republicans' top legislative leaders.

Demos Had Hopes

Republicans, who have controlled the Legislature for more than two decades, maintained a 33-25 margin in the Senate and an 84-66 edge in the Assembly.

Banking on Kennedy's popularity, the Democrats had high hopes of taking over the Senate.

The only inroad they made was in the Bronx, where Democrat Joseph Marine won the Republican seat that had been held by Joseph F. Periconi, who had resigned to become a member of the New York City Transit Authority.

Was Assembly Leader

One of the Democrats' major victories was scored in Syracuse, where Charles A. Schoeneck Jr., GOP majority leader in the Assembly, was defeated by Democrat John P. Savage.

With the exception of Schoeneck, leaders of both parties were returned to office.

Democrats ousted two Republican Assemblymen in Erie County (Buffalo) and one in Monroe (Rochester).

In Erie, veteran William J. Butler fell before Vincent P. Arnone, and George F. Dannebrock lost to Albert J. Hausbeck.

Charles F. Stockmeister defeated Harold E. Barrett in Monroe. The Republican incumbent in that district did not run for reelection.

Taber Wins Again

The GOP gained the Seneca County Assembly seat vacated by Democrat Francis J. Souhan, who resigned to run for Congress against Repm John Taber. Theodore D. Day won the seat and Souhan was defeated by Taber.

In other Democratic upsets in Assembly races:

Michael J. Capanegro defeated John Dileonardo in Queens; Paul Worlock beat David Townsend in Rome; Joseph J. Dowd ousted Harry J. Donnelly in Brooklyn; Ferdinand J. Mondello won over George W. Harrington in The Bronx; George M. Michaels took over the Cayuga County seat that had been held by Charles A. Cusick, who did not run for reelection.

Those Reelected

Among those reelected were Sen. Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, GOP majority leader; Sen. Austin W. Erwin of Geneseo, GOP chairman of the Senate Finance Committee; Sen. Joseph Zaretzki of Manhattan, Democratic minority leader, Assemblyman Joseph F. Carlino of Long Beach, Republican speaker; and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia of Brooklyn, Democratic minority leader.

Mahoney said the success of Republicans in retaining control of the Legislature showed public satisfaction with Republican fiscal policies.

Democrats had attacked state financing, claiming that Republican Gov. Rockefeller and the GOP - controlled Legislature had authorized unnecessarily high taxes.

Democrats Take Lead in Congress

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —Democrat John F. Kennedy swept to an Election Day victory in New York State by 400,000 votes and the tide ousted Republicans from control of the state's congressional delegation.

The Democratic tide in the state gave the party control of the state's 43-member congressional delegation for the first time in 10 years by 22 to 21.

Prior to Tuesday's balloting Republicans held a 24-19 margin in the delegation.

The Democrats last held a majority in the state's congressional delegation in 1950.

On the State Legislative front the GOP lost some ground in both houses but retained control despite Kennedy's strong showing in traditionally Republican Upstate areas.

With returns practically complete today, Kennedy had 3,824,845 votes to 3,424,292 for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP candidate.

First Since FDR

Republicans, who gave President Eisenhower a 1.6-million-vote margin in the counties outside of New York City in 1956, could produce a Nixon edge of only 390,000 in the same territory Tuesday.

Kennedy piled up a plurality of nearly 800,000 votes in New York City, a Democratic stronghold, for the overall victory that gave him the state's prized 45 electoral votes.

Kennedy thus became the first Democratic presidential candidate since Franklin D. Roosevelt, a native New Yorker, to carry the Empire State.

The Kennedy victory spelled failure for an intensive campaign by Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to Deliver the state to Nixon.

Teachers Accept Return to Work Offer in N.Y.C.

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's first teachers' strike ended Tuesday night, the day after it began.

Delegates of the striking United Federation of Teachers (UFT) voted at a closed meeting to accept an offer from the Board of Education to return to work.

The board, with the backing of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, had guaranteed that no reprisals would be taken against striking teachers—if they returned to work today.

The union also agreed to meet with three top labor leaders acting as intermediaries in the dispute.

The walkout started Monday when the UFT struck over demands for improved working conditions and other issues. About 250 of the city's 837 schools were picketed. Some of the city's one million students refused to cross picket lines and there were reports of minor vandalism.

The UFT, which claims a membership of 10,000 among the city's 40,000 teachers, had asserted the strike was picking up momentum. But the Board of Education, while admitting disruptions in operations, said all the schools had remained open and would continue to do so. Supervisory personnel had been pressed into service, and classes doubled up.

The schools were closed Tuesday Election Day.

GOP Candidates Win in Ulster But Victory Margin Is Reduced

The Republican party swept Ulster County offices in Tuesday's elections, returning Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, County Clerk Lawrence Craft and Coroner Francis J. McCardle, and provided substantial pluralities in the Congressional and State Senatorial races.

Despite the election of Sen. John F. Kennedy to the Presidency, Ulster County returned a majority of more than 13,000 votes for Vice-President Richard M. Nixon.

A strenuous bid for office in the 29th Congressional District by Gore Vidal (D-L) of Barrytown, Dutchess County, went aground, although it was the stiffest challenge yet met by Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of Richmondville, Schoharie County.

Concedes at Midnight

Late unofficial returns in the district (Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Schoharie and Greene counties) showed Wharton leading by more than 17,000 votes. Vidal conceded about midnight.

State Sen. E. Ogden Bush of Walton, Delaware County, was relected to the State Senate in the 34th Senatorial District by an estimated 26,000 or 27,000 votes. Accurate totals were difficult to obtain this morning.

In Ulster County, with 96 of its 97 election districts reporting, Sen. Bush had 32,399 to 24,572 polled by his opponent, James T. McCardle (D-L) of Kingston, a plurality of 7,927.

Nixon polled 36,113 votes in Ulster County to 22,970 for Kennedy, a plurality of 13,143.

Pluralities Reduced

Republican pluralities in the Presidential and other races in Ulster County were sharply off the 1956 pace when President Eisenhower was elected by more than 29,000 votes over Adlai Stevenson.

Wharton's margin of victory in the 29th Congressional District was the narrowest in his decade in that body. In 1958 he won by 39,494 votes and in 1956, the year Eisenhower swept Ulster county by a majority of more than 3 to 1, he polled an overwhelming majority of 77,176.

In Ulster county Congressman Wharton polled 31,925 votes to 25,230 for Vidal, a plurality of 6,695. In 1958 he had a plurality of 11,045 over his opponent, Christopher D. Morris of Kingston. In 1956 Wharton had a whopping plurality of 23,143 over his opponent.

Assemblyman Wilson polled a total of 33,704 votes to 23,462 for his opponent Norman Kellar (D-L) of New Paltz, a plurality of 10,242.

County Clerk Craft received 33,212 votes to 22,603 for his opponent James T. Egan (D-L), a plurality of 11,609.

Coroner McCardle won with 33,248 to 23,601 for Dr. Harry E. McNamara of Hurley, a plurality of 9,747.

Rockefeller Sends Telegram

Assemblyman Wilson received a telegram of congratulations this morning from Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller:

"Congratulations on your wonderful victory. I look forward with great pleasure to continuing to work with you in advancing the cause of good government for a greater and growing Empire State."

Vidal conceded about midnight with this statement:

"I would like to thank all those who worked so hard for me in this campaign, especially the young people in colleges and high schools, not to mention all those Republicans, Democrats and Independents who gave so much of their time. I am grateful. I thank them. I also hope that the tradition of candidates meeting electors informally at coffee hours will continue in future years and now, finally, to all young people who were interested in my candidacy, let me say: Stay interested in politics! We need you."

At the time he conceded, Vidal was trailing his opponent in the 29th District by approximately 22,000 votes—87,751 to 65,627.

Related to Kennedy

Vidal is a step-brother of Mrs. John F. Kennedy. He is a well-known author, playwright and television personality whose play, "The Best Man," is now playing to packed houses on Broadway.

The only election district which had not reported this morning in Ulster County was District No. 3, town of Rochester.

Parks, Move On Housing Are Favored

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York State voters stamped approval by a 3 to 1 margin in mounting returns today on a proposition for a $75 million bond issue to expand parks and recreation areas.

They also appeared to be favoring, in almost complete returns, a second proposition to add $5 million to the $39 million subsidy the state pays annually to localities to help keep rents down in public housing developments.

Upstate Opposed

Upstate New York voted against the housing aid proposal, but it was favored heavily in New York City, which has most of the municipal housing in the state.

Nixon Concedes After Electoral Vote Is 272

Senator Holds 488,212 Popular Tally, Illinois, California Still Undecided

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrat John F. Kennedy today won the presidency — the youngest man and the first Roman Catholic ever elected to the nation's highest office.

See-sawing Minnesota finally came to rest in the 43-year-old Massachusetts senator's camp at 12:30 p.m. EST and put him over the 269 electoral votes he needed to wrap up mathematically a victory that for many hours had been prospectively his. Kennedy's electoral vote count at that point was 272.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon today formally conceded the election of Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The dramatic concession announcement came at 9:47 a.m., PST, a few minutes after Kennedy had cinched election by winning Minnesota's 11 electoral votes.

Sends Congratulations

Nixon sent this telegram to his Democratic rival:

"I want to repeat through this wire congratulations and best wishes I extended to you on television last night. I know you will have the united support of all Americans as you lead the nation in the cause of peace and freedom in the next four years."

Republican Richard M. Nixon's electoral total at that time was 177.

The popular vote at that time stood: Kennedy 31,498,552 for 50.4 per cent of the counted ballots; Nixon 31,010,340 for 49.6 per cent.

Scores in Big States

With two big states—California and Illinois — still undecided, it was possible for Kennedy to wind up with a wide electoral vote margin.

But the popular vote showed a nationwide division of sentiment that swung by a fraction of one per cent.

Kennedy won by scoring where it counted most—in the bigger states.

Kennedy's victory caps a string of political successes for the Boston Irishman, son of a multi-millionaire. He fought the Japanese during World War II as commander of a torpedo boat, returned home and was elected to Congress, then ousted Henry Cabot Lodge, this year's Republican vice presidential nominee, to gain a Senate seat.

Has Democratic Congress

By winning the presidency, Kennedy rockets to a position of awesome responsibility—to leadership of the strongest nation in the free world at a time of tensions and struggles with Communism.

The senator's campaign theme was that he can get America "moving ahead" as he said it has not been doing in the years of the Eisenhower administration.

He will have with him a Congress where his own party has substantial majorities in both the Senate and House. The Senate division will be 64 Democrats and 36 Republicans. The Republicans picked up two seats in the election—in Delaware and Wyoming.

Republican National Chairman Thruston Morton in effect earlier conceded in remarks to newsmen at the White House.

"It seems to me he's in," Morton said of the 43-year-old Massachusetts senator.

Morton said one purpose of his White House call was to thank President Eisenhower for all he did to help Nixon's campaign.

In Hyannis Port, Mass., Kennedy was waiting for some statement from Nixon before making any of his own.

With a three-hour time difference, it was still early in California where the Republican nominee had gone to bed later after listening to election returns.

Dems Hold Big Edge For 87th

GOP Makes Some Congress Gains

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Solid Democratic majorities will control the Senate and the House when the 87th Congress convenes Jan. 3.

The Democrats quickly nailed down control of the Senate in Tuesday's election. And by 3 o'clock this morning, they had captured more than half the 437 House seats.

GOP Dents Margin

Nonetheless, with returns still incomplete, it appeared the Republicans had dented the top-heavy margins the Democrats held in the out-going 86th Congress. In the Senate the old line-up was 66-34 and in the House 283-154.

With all of the Senate races settled except for a tight battle in Montana the Republicans had picked up one seat in Delaware and another in Wyoming.

Sen. Karl Mundt, veteran South Dakota Republican, squeaked to victory over Rep. George Mc Govern, a Democrat who decided to give up his House seat to make the race for the Senate.

In Montana, Democratic Rep. Lee Metcalf and Republican former Rep. Owen B. Fjare were in a mid-and-tuck contest for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. James E. Murray, D-Mont.

GOP Net Gain Is 13

In the House, Republicans had gobbled up 18 seats held by Democrats but had lost 5 for a net gain of 13. In races still undecided, Democrats were ahead in 30 and Republicans in 27.

Over-all, however, the outlook was for a Congress similar in make-up and key figures to the one President Eisenhower had to deal with in the last two years of his administration.

Southern Democrats, most of whom supported Sen. John F. Kennedy even though strongly opposed to parts of the party platform, will continue to hold many of the committee chairmanships and be in position to team up with Republicans against legislation they dislike.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas won reelection to the Senate, but was prepared to resign to assume the vice presidency.

Rayburn, Halleck Return

The Big Three in the House, Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex.; the majority leader, Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and the Republican leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, all won reelection.

Another long familiar figure in the House, former Republican

Republicans Favored in Kingston Except Rep. Wharton, Sen. Bush

A Republican presidential vote in the city Tuesday, drastically under the big Eisenhower years of 1952 and 1956, brought a Nixon-Lodge lead of 868 over the Kennedy-Johnson, Democratic-Liberal totals and two candidates endorsed by both Democratic and Liberal parties led their Republican opponents by 591 based on first unofficial returns.

Nixon and Lodge polled 7,919 as the Kennedy-Johnson ticket brought 6,307 Democratic and 744 Liberal Party votes for a 7,051 total. The total vote for presidential candidates of 14,970 was only 273 under this year's total registration.

Democrat - Liberal candidates Gore Vidal who opposed Republican J. Ernest Wharton for congressman in the 29th District, and James McCardle opposing E. Ogden Bush for state senator, each won in the city by 591 votes.

Kenneth L. Wilson, county Republican leader and incumbent state assemblyman, Lawrence D. Craft, GOP candidate for county clerk, and Francis J. McCardle, incumbent and Republican candidate for coroner, all won in the city.

Park Proposition Wins

Proposition No. 1 dealing with a proposed $75,000,000 bond issue for state park purposes was approved in the city by 1,706 votes. The other proposition pertinent to a state housing law amendment lost by 2,554.

The city had special interest in the first proposition because of proposed development of a Kingston Point park site. The vote was 4,015 yes, and 2,309 no. The vote on Proposition No. 2 was 1,811 yes and 4,365 no.

Tuesday's Republican vote for Nixon and Lodge was 3,517 under the 1956 total of 11,436 polled (on the basis of first unofficial returns) for Eisenhower and Nixon against Democrats Stevenson and Kefauver in 1956. The total Democrat-Liberal Par-

Credentials Committee Favoring Kasavubu for Congo Seat in U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. Credentials Committee was expected to recommend today that Congo President Joseph Kasavubu be seated in the General Assembly as his chaotic young nation's representative.

Kasavubu still faced a battle in the General Assembly, which must approve the committee's action. The nine-nation Soviet bloc and at least eight Asian and African nations were spearheading a move to give U.N. recognition to Kasavubu's chief rival, deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The Credentials Committee had not been scheduled to meet until December on the Congo seating question. But it suddenly decided to act after Kasavubu, in a speech to the 99-nation assembly Tuesday appealed for the immediate seating of a delegation headed by himself.

The Credentials Committee is made up of Costa Rica, Haiti, Morocco, New Zealand, the Philippines, Spain, Soviet Union, the United Arab Republic and the United States. Only three of the nine nations—Russia, the U.A.R. and Morocco—are known supporters of Lumumba.

Kasavubu, in a 15-minute speech opening assembly debate on the Congo, said only the Congo's chief of state has the right to nominate the nation's representatives to the assembly.

To loud applause from most members except the Soviet bloc and the Asian-African group supporting Lumumba, Kasavubu said his delegation would include representatives of all Congolese factions, including the rebellious provinces of Katanga and Kasai.

Kasavubu said also that Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko, a leader of the technicians' government installed by army chief Col. Joseph Mobutu, would be the second-ranking member of his delegation. Bomboko accompanied Kasavubu here from Leopoldville. He was also foreign minister under Lumumba although the two never got along.

Government Men Must Know

Competitive Bids Seen Best Way for Defense Contracts

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Congressional subcommittee has given New York lawmakers, businessmen and labor leaders fresh ammunition in their fight to win more defense contracts for the Empire State.

A joint economic subcommittee said in a recent report that the Defense Department should make every effort to award contracts through competitive bidding rather than by negotiations.

The subcommittee's report said that over 86 per cent of all defense contracts are negotiated and that California receives the lion's share.

That's just what New York business and labor leaders and Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, New York Republicans, have been complaining about for almost two years.

Measure Dies

Javits and Keating introduced a bill last year to encourage competitive bidding on defense contracts. The bill died in a Senate subcommittee.

The economic subcommittee said the Defense Department's procurement had been concentrated in big business firms to the detriment of small businessmen and often ignored states with serious unemployment problems.

Despite a 1947 act and former President Truman's admonition to negotiate contracts only in exceptional cases, the subcommittee said, 'the exception is now the rule."

The subcommittee said too many contracts were concentrated in too few states. California, New York, Texas, Massachusetts and Ohio do over half the nation's total defense business, the report said.

Defense spending in New York during the year ended June 30, 1959, totaled $2,865,000,000 including $2.4 billion for defense contracts.

Insist on More

Although this represented 11.1 per cent of the nation's total defense contract business, Javits and Keating insist it should be higher because, they said, New York carries between 15 and 20 per cent of the nation's tax burden.

The subcommittee said it agreed with chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee, who testified before the subcommittee:

"We have made a study of the qualifications of the men who sat across the table from industry. I was dumbfounded and shocked at their lack of knowledge on what they were dealing with."

Must Know How

Vinson said a Denfese Department official negotiating a contract must know his work inside out or he will be at the mercy of industry.

"And unfortunately," Vinson added, "the government does not have people who have had that experience and that background, in a great many instances."

Gardiner Lists Budget Hearing For November 10

A public hearing on the proposed 1961 Town of Gardiner budget will be held at Tuttletown Hall, Thursday, Nov. 10, at 8 p. m. Supervisor George Majestic (D), urges all taxpayers to attend this public hearing since the "government of the town is your business" and to a great degree the success of the town budget "determines the financial welfare of the town."

During the past two years Supervisor Majestic has sent taxpayers a complete and detailed budget and this year, only the proposed changes and increases in the proposed budget are brought to the attention of the taxpayers.

The town board may decrease or reject any item except those relating to the Fire District. This year the Gardiner fire district increased its appropriation to $2,630. This is payment on the new tank truck.

Majestic calls attention to the following changes in the tentative 1961 budget over the 1960 budget:

Town hall rental increased from $240 to $300.

Insurance: compensation, fire, liability, 1960, $2,275; 1961, $3,000; up $725.

Printing and advertising, all departments, $50 increase.

Social Security: 1960, $700; 1961, $900; up $200.

Supervisor's office and other expenses: 1960, $25; 1961, $50.

Town clerk's salary same at $1,200. Need for office equipment and other incidentals indicate need for an appropriation of $175 for 1961.

Receiver of taxes, salary increase from $765 to $965. ($65 of this is for postage).

This year voters will be called upon to vote for or against zoning in the town. To be prepared if voted, the Town board proposes $300 in the budget to cover salary of a Zoning Inspector, plus $400 for a Planning and Zoning Board to cover publication in local papers of zoning ordinance to be considered prior to the vote. Voters are urged to study the proposed ordinance and attend hearings.

Puerto Rico Elects Marin Despite Pleas of Bishops

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Puerto Rico's predominately Roman Catholic voters rejected the instructions of their bishops and re-elected Gov. Luis Munoz Marin by a landslide in final unofficial returns today.

Munoz Marin, himself a Catholic, captured 456,317 votes to 325,757 for his three opponents. He won his fourth term as head of this U.S. commonwealth island.

The results of the record poll were a sharp rebuff to the island's three Roman Catholic bishops, who in pastoral letters had warned that a vote for Munoz Marin's Popular Democrats would be a sin because the party did not oppose birth control.

By re-electing Munoz Marin, the voters also approved Puerto Rico's continuance as a commonwealth under the American flag.

Luis Ferre, the Republican candidate, who campaigned for Puerto Rican statehood, was outdistanced almost 2-1. Ferre received 250,638 votes.

Salvador Perea, the Christian Action party candidate backed by the Catholic hierarchy, and Julio Garcia Diaz of the Independence party ran far behind.

Perea received 51,072 votes. Diaz, who campaigned for independence from the United States, got 24,047.

The legislature will continue to be dominated by the Popular Democrats, who have no official link with the mainland Democratic party. The Republicans are affiliated with the Republican party in the United States.

Puerto Rico, as a commonwealth, does not vote in the U.S. presidential elections. It also pays no U.S. taxes.

Better than 83 per cent of the 937,531 registered voters turned out to choose the governor and legislature. The island is 90 per cent Catholic.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

It is probably safe to say that the many mothers and most fathers seldom if ever drop around to see what kind of school their children are attending. Sometimes this reflects blind faith in the school authorities and the community. More often, though, it indicates laziness, indifference or preoccupation with what seem to be more important things.

During National Education Week when parents are given a very special invitation to visit the schools, it seems appropriate to call attention to the fact that next to the home itself, the school is supposed to be the great molder of our youth. Yet how many parents really know, first hand, the people who are doing the molding? How many know anything significant about the methods of teaching being used?

Apparently all too few parents visit the schools or it wouldn't be necessary to set aside a "a visit your school" week.

What's to be gained by visiting the school? This:

The teacher, by seeing and knowing the parents, will be fixed better to assist a child's development. A youngster can't be understood in a human vacuum.

The mother and father will get a sensible grasp of their child's schooling environment—the nature and condition of the classroom, the techniques applied, the teacher's personality and qualifications.

Throughout Education Week The Freeman is presenting a series of graphs which include the financial picture of the Kingston School District (Consolidated). These graphs show that large sums of money are being spent to educate our children so they can take full advantage of the opportunities we are trying to provide. This effort is misplaced if we do not take the time to see first hand how our educational growth is progressing.

AUTOMATIC NURSE

A team of Navy researchers makes some astounding predictions about the hospital of tomorrow, and everyone is apt to rise up and cheer but the prospective patients. In this hospital of the future the little attention of nurses, dieticians and orderlies will diminish to the vanishing point. The fellow in bed who is well enough to appreciate the touch of feminine fingers on his pulse will have to settle for a book or magazine.

These Navy researchers say that a system of automatic devices will record the patient's physical and psychological reactions and transmit them to nurses' stations. With the electronic sleuths providing a running commentary on the patient's every wheeze, nurses will be able to cut room visits to a minimum.

And the next step? Robot lotion appliers, back rubbers and meal servers, we suppose. When that state of progress is attained, the patient will have little to speed the dreary day but mail, visiting relatives and sleep. And what he'll enjoy most will be leaving the place.

Senate probers find that a drug firm made a 67.7 per cent profit on sales of an antibiotic. But that's before taxes, so the firm will be needing a subsidy.

Young men who have the ability to go far often do so—but occasionally in the wrong direction.

IT'S A SLOW, CAREFUL PROCESS

It's so easy to talk about scientific advances, but so hard to make them acutalities. Nothing demonstrates this better than the widely hailed X-15 plane. It's designed to carry a man into true space, 100 miles above the earth. It will travel at 4,000 miles an hour. But years have passed since the public first saw the designers' drawing and testing is still going on at the deliberate, meticulous pace which science requires. The other day, the fifth pilot flew it—for 11 minutes, at 1,300 miles per hour, altitude, 50,000 feet.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE GREATEST AUTHORITY

Cyrus Eaton, who has designated himself as the greatest authority on all subjects, recently commented on the American press. He spoke in Ottawa, Canada, in connection with the Bowaters Awards for Journalism. Cyrus Eaton prefers the Canadian Press to the American, because he likes its objectivity. Nevertheless the entire Canadian press does not have the reportorial coverage in the world of one New York newspaper, "The New York Times," nor are its reporters equally trained. That is a matter of circulation and money, as well as ability and experience. Objectivity is difficult to achieve for any human being because it requires not only knowledge but maturity and wisdom.

Eaton, who seems to dislike the United States where he earned his money and to adore Soviet Russia which gave him a troika of horses, has this to say:

". . . Journalism in the United States, I fear, has fallen to a comparatively low estate in its foreign coverage. Blind and unreasoning fear and hatred of Communism, on the part of press, public, and politician alike, have led to inadequate reporting of conditions and events in the socialistic countries, and to slanted editorial comment, as well."

This is literally untrue. The United States has, since 1917, covered the news and conditions of Soviet Russia, more fully and more objectively than any newspaper in Soviet Russia has covered the United States or, for that matter, Soviet Russia. Censorship controls every word in the Russian press. Our correespondents have come out of that country with a wealth of material which they managed to give their readers without the benefit of censorship. They had to leave Russia to do it.

Cyrus Eaton can neither read nor speak Russian or Polish. His ability to observe is therefore narrow. He can only know what his limited vision shows him or what an interpreter tells him. Yet he has the impudence to say:

". . . What I observed in the socialistic nations simply does not match most of what I have been reading about them in the American press."

Were Cyrus Eaton a scholar or a worker, no one would pay the slightest attention to his irresponsible statements. He happens to be a rich man who speculated in iron, steel and railroads and won. Therefore undue attention is paid to his unsubstantiated remarks.

Suddenly this man who knows nothing about China beyond perhaps the flavor of chop suey denounces the free American press as a tool of the State Department because it does not permit American correspondents to visit Red China. He says nothing about an effort to arrange for American correspondents to visit Red China which Red China rejected. He says nothing about the brutality of Red China in the Korean War. He does Soviet Russia's and Red China's propaganda in this country and being a rich man, he is unpaid and therefore does not have to register as a foreign agent.

He said:

"The American press has, with a few rare exceptions, displayed itself as (at) its inflammatory and sensational worst in its coverage of the Fifteenth General Assembly of the United Nations. Distortion and misrepresentation have reached new peaks in the reporting, cartoons and editorials accorded the presence in New York of the Communist leaders who have been a small part of the largest gathering of heads of government in history."

Eaton is referring to the vicious attempt of Khrushchev to hold a Summit Conference of his own devising in New York. This was when Khrushchev pounded tables, took off his shoe in public, generally acted as a hooligan to the embarrassment of the entire world. Cyrus Eaton liked that. It amused him. He enjoyed the insults hurled at the country of his citizenship. He was running a foreign policy all on his own. Not the President, not the Secretary of State, not the American representatives to the United Nations, but he, Cyrus Eaton, uninformed and untrained, was operating an American foreign policy without benefit of an oath of office.

The time has come to look into this man, to see what forces have twisted him into a Soviet propagandist. If he does not like this kind of journalism, I do not like his lying, his insulting my country, his abuse of the freedom of American citizenship. I do not like this Eaton fellow at all, and the time has come to say so out loud.

Surgery Offers New Hope To Shaking Palsy Victims

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I sometimes think that parkinsonism is the heaviest cross the patient and his family can be asked to bear. Known also as shaking palsy and paralysis agitans, this cruel affliction is one to which the victim rarely succumbs; from it, he rarely recovers.

In parkinsonism, the damage is done to a relatively small area in the mid-brain. In young patients, the damaging agent is usually a virus. The particular virus is usually the organism that is associated with epidemics of what is called "sleeping sickness" (lethargic encephalitis).

In the older patient, parkinsonism is most often the result of hardening of the arteries that bring blood and nutriment to this small mid-brain area.

We do not know why virus or arteriosclerotic process elects to strike this tiny and protected area with such devastating intensity any more than we know why a tornado follows a certain path. We do not know why either of these agents of destruction chooses to strike this person and not that. If we possessed this information, we might discover preventive measures.

In general, those who treat parkinsonism encourage their patients to continue those activities in which they participated before their illness.

More specifically, they prescribe exercises and drugs. Many of the latter are quite helpful but, since each has one or another type of side reaction, some member of the household may be required to assist with medication.

In 1952, a new and promising approach to the more lasting control of parkinsonian rigidity and tremor was discovered when Dr. Irving S. Cooper of New York University observed improvement in a patient after a small artery of the affected region was tied off.

Folrlowing this lead, Dr. Cooper perfected a technique for blocking the same region by chemical injection (chemopallidectomy or chemothalamectomy).

A few months ago, Dr. Cooper reported the results of 1,000 of these procedures performed at St. Barnabas Hospital in New York.

Against an operative mortality of 2 per cent and of post-operative complications of about 3 per cent, the procedure succeeded in bringing relief to 85 per cent of those who submitted to surgery.

Many of these patients have continued to lead relatively full and comfortable lives with little or no dependence on drugs, for as long as six years.

While there are limitations, as well as risks, to the surgical approach, the procedure surely merits the consideration of affected patients, their families and ther medical advisers.

'Anchors Aweigh' Was Theme Of President-Elect Kennedy

By JAMES DEVLIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

John F. Kennedy is a former naval officer who campaigned for the presidency on a theme of "anchors aweigh."

He likeped the United States to a great ship lying at anchor and held that she should be sailing on to new frontiers—with Kennedy at the helm.

Kennedy rode some rough seas of his own in his drive for the White House, chiefly a bitter controversy as to whether the nation was ready for a Catholic president for the first time.

He also faced some objections to his youth—43 years—but this issue appeared to fade as the campaign wore on.

The trim, slim millionaire entered the campaign with a background as a war hero, a Pulitzer Prize-winning author and a phenomenal vote-getter, and with a family tradition of public life.

Kennedy, who speaks with a combination of a Harvard accent and a New England twang, was born in Brookline, Mass., a Boston suburb, on May 29, 1917.

His maternal grandfather, for whom he is named, John F. Fitzgerald, was mayor of Boston and a congressman.

Father Was Ambassador

His father, Joseph P. Kennedy, was ambassador to London, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission and chairman of the Maritime Commission.

The elder Kennedy earlier had built up a fortune, through finance and business, that has been estimated unofficially at from 200 to 400 million dollars.

The boy was only 9 when his father set up a million-dollar trust fund for him—as he did for each of the other eight Kennedy children.

Kennedy was graduated cum laude from Harvard in 1940 and later attended the London School of Economics.

Also in 1940, he wrote "Why England Slept," an analysis of British thinking prior to World War II. He won the Pulitzer Prize for biography in 1957 for another book, "Profiles in Courage."

Kennedy got into the war as a junior grade naval lieutenant commanding a patrol boat in the South Pacific. A Japanese destroyer sliced through the small craft on Aug. 2, 1943. Two crewmen were lost.

Though he suffered a spinal injury, Kennedy led in rescue efforts among the survivors, towing one wounded man on a five-hour, three-mile swim to an island. The group was rescued five days later.

Kennedy won the Navy and Marine Corps medals and the Purple Heart.

His spinal injury eventually required two operations, one in 1945 and another in 1954, the latter requiring eight months convalescence.

At the end of the war, Kennedy decided to devote his time to public life.

He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1946 at the age of 29 and served three terms.

Elected Senator

The Democrat attracted wide political attention in 1952 when he was elected senator. He beat Henry Cabot Lodge by 70,000 votes while Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower was taking Massachusetts by 210,000 votes.

Kennedy became better known nationally when he almost beat out the veteran campaigner, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, for the vice presidential nomination in the 1956 Democratic National Convention.

The setback was fortunate for Kennedy, for if he had won the nomination on what proved to be a losing ticket his chances for the presidential nomination this year might have been lessened.

Kennedy bounced back from hs 1956 experience by winning re-election as a senator in 1958 by almost 900,000 votes, the largest plurality ever in a Massachusetts senate race.

Then he sailed through seven successive state primaries on his way to the presidential nomination.

Kennedy and Jacqueline Bouvier, a member of a socially prominent Newport, R.I., family, were married in 1953. They have a daughter, Caroline, 3, and are expecting another child.

Profit Pinch on Business Called a Peril to Stability

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 — Business men, more than any other group, are glad the election is over. They have been anxious and hesitant. It wasn't altogether the fear that, while one party would adhere to sound fiscal principles, the other would take a chance on deficit spending. It was the uncertainty itself which produced a psychological reaction that added up to a pause rather than a movement ahead. For despite all the volume of words in the speeches, business men couldn't tell just what policies they would encounter in a new Administration.

The country is passing through a mild "recession" or "readjustment." But this alone would cause little concern. Thoughful students of economic problems know that something more fundamental is causing anxiety. It is the rapid growth of economic blocs in our midst which at any moment can stifle the business progress of the nation and throw it into a tail spin.

Neither candidate dared to mention it, but the real cause of our economic upheaval and the narrowing profit margins for business is the irresponsibility of groups that hold vast economic power. The steel strike caused the present recession. Yet not a word came from either campaign speaker to enlighten the people on the same menace that faces American prosperity in the future.

Chaos Possible

If a group of labor leaders can tie up the economy of the country by a prolonged strike are are not held accountable for their actions by any public authority, the end result must be chaos. How long can America face up to the competition with the Soviet Union if each group here can do as it pleases without regard to the public interest? This is a political question, but the campaign hasn't answered it. Recession after recession is to be expected if the country is to be subjected to costly strikes, irrespective of the capacity of business to absorb higher and higher wage costs. The politics inside trade unions has reached proportions dangerous to the future stability of the economy.

Here is what the "monthly letter" of the First National City Bank—an analysis recognized as sound and authoritative by most business men—had to say in its November issue:

"Although doing more business and handling more money in the aggregate than ever before, American corporations this year have been facing a difficult challenge in maintaining their profit margins.

"In a new era of intensified domestic and international competition, which has denied opportunity for price increases and led to at least spotty price weaknesses, efforts have been required to shave controllable expenses in every possible way. Nevertheless, uncontrollable elements of cost—principally employment costs—in company with failure of sales to reach higher levels, have trenched upon corporate net earnings. When profits are related to sales, and examined on a quarter-to quarter basis, a slow but sure erosion of margins becomes apparent. . . .

New Environment Noted

"The profits pinch reflects struggles of business in coping with a new environment of world-wide competition. . . . With markets more and more competitive, discounts from list have become commonplace while sales efforts have had to be intensified. At the same time, wages, taxes, and other cost elements have continued upward about as rapidly as in previous years."

What does all this mean?. It certainly can't mean that the government is able to engage in another such "pump-priming" venture as brought ruinous results during New Deal days. It can't mean that more and more luxuries are to be appropriated for by the government in the name of "social welfare" and without regard to the capacity of corporations or individuals to pay higher taxes. The new Administration in Washington rather will have to worry about how to cut expenses in government and how to bring about a better climate for business.

Less Money for Aid

Nor can new policies be introduced that mean more spending abroad. There will not be as much to go around as before, either for Africa or Latin America, and much of the campaign twaddle about helping the underprivileged in Brazil, for instance, will have to be forgotten.

For the truth is the American dollar is in trouble. The loss of gold is a sign of weakness in our international position. The United States cannot afford to keep on giving dollars away as it did in the early years of the post-war period.

The same "monthly letter" of the First National City Bank — which incidentally has branches in most of the important countries—puts its finger, moreover, on the real problem of the dollar and the loss of gold as follows:

"There are fears, expressed by some Americans and foreigners alike, that a new Administration taking office Jan. 20 next will enlarge government spending and perhaps also seek to impose an artificial cheap money policy. While these things may not come to pass, it is not unnatural that some of the 'cheap money' campaign speeches should have aroused fears at home and abroad of a new surge of inflation in the United States."

Bark Worse Than Bite

It is a sad commentary on modern democracy that so little thought has been given to the effect abroad of the extravagant promises as to government spending. These were conveyed in the campaign speeches designed to get votes by appealing to the selfish instincts of the citizens. Most Americans know how to discount such things, but foreigners do not. Hence the next few weeks will be occupied in reassuring the world that "campaign oratory," as Wendell Willkie once used the phrase, is after all the bark that is worse than the bite.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

TUCSON, Nov. 8—After twenty years of living here intermittently, I have made so bold as to recommend southern Arizona as a very pleasant place in which to put down stakes and go local.

The southern slice of our state from New Mexico to California is the scene of the enticements I have praised with good conscience, having no land for sale but, on the contrary, an appetite for more. The warm winter climate, the vegetation, the clear, dry mountain atmosphere of the desert, and new homes with as many as five bedrooms at a "move-in" price of $200 on a total of $10,000 to $12,000 in a region where a boom is jumping, have been my theme. The goods are still as advertised.

However, I am having pangs because no place that I have ever seen, including Bermuda, has been quite heavenly so I here present some rebuttal matter, starting with the ensuing vox pop from our local press:

"I purchased a lot in the east end (the swanky part) of Tucson to erect a home with a small swimming pool and patio fence in the rear. After spending some time in the tax assessor's office and checking with various realty officials, I was told that the tax (on an investment of $32,000) would be about $900 a year.

"I cannot see what Tucson has to offer worth such a tax since the city has no sidewalks, few sewers, street lights, etc., and only half the streets are improved.

"Due to the unreasonable tax rate, I have had several of my friends move to Phoenix and I am doing likewise.

"M. BABBISH,
"109, W. Prince Road."

In general, Mr. Babbish is right, but the most outrageous outrage is the school system, which he did not mention at all. It has a predatory charter from the Legislature to buy $2,000 concert grand pianos and to build bull-tight, close-web wire fences up to eight feet high entirely around the schools which are so close together that some school zones overlap.

About 20 years ago a driver blacked out passing a school, jumped the curb and caused the death of a little girl. On that excuse all the schools have been enclosed in miles and miles of fencing, which now costs from $1.25 to $1.75 a running foot. There are actually fences within fences and luxuriant turf for baseball and football and many great clusters of lights on tall steel towers for practice and games after dark. The equipment includes grandstands, exquisite drainage, dressing rooms and showers. The kids are lousy players but strong on heroics. The generation who are now in their fifties and upward rode ponies to school instead of buses, or walked. They played on fields of 'dobe clay or caliche, which is something like Florida coral. Grass is so rare in these parts that many of us have been simulating grass lawns with gravel sprayed green.

But the kiddies, ranging up to 18 years and 190 pounds, are too delicate so the wear and tear is transferred to people who come here for their health or to retire on savings and pensions, including social security. It is not a wealthy population at all so the extravagance for schools is an important factor in a rising discontent.

Many of those fences run along the sides and in back of schools where there are no roads nor even trails, but most of the victims are strangers in a new land and there is no organization to put up a fight. Anyway, the children aren't fenced when school lets out and they go home and I have observed New York public schools flush with the sidewalk lines which then extend to the curbs of streets where enormous motor box cars go thundering by at 30 miles an hour with hardly any casualties.

There is a speed limit of 15 miles in school zones even when classes are running, and the result is a traffic drag all day long in, say half the area of the city and suburbs.

The regular real estate taxes are very high, too, not only in the city, which is constantly annexing square miles of cactus prairie and gullies, but out in the wilds where Pima County has jurisdiction. In a typical case a 20-acre patch of naked desert land on a trail but not a road is taxed $200 a year.

Mr. Babbish Errs where he says there are "no" sidewalks in Tucson. There are miles of sidewalks, but usually property owners have to pay for them by assessment and that is why we haven't more. People don't use sidewalks much for walking and don't like to pay assessments for concrete scooter tracks for the neighbors' kids.

The public transportation is awful. It is a bus service that drops most people far from their homes, many of them lame from arthritis or their years.

Otherwise, life is just dandy. But I think I ought to warn any who, on my word, are in the act of throwing their duffel into the car and hitting the road for Tucson.

Will Join Panel For Formation of Board Committee

EDWARD M. GARDNER

Edward M. Gardner of Ardsley has accepted an invitation to sit on a panel Wednesday, Nov. 16, to discuss formation of a non-partisan nominating committee for selection of candidates for the Kingston School District (Consolidated).

The meeting, which is open to the public, will be held in the auditorium of the George Washington School. It is sponsored by the Kingston Branch, American Association of University Women.

Gardner, a member of the Ardsley Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association, served during 1959-60 as a member of the executive board of the P-TA as school board representative. He also served as chairman in 1959 of a community study committee to study and develop a non-partisan nominating committee for school board candidates.

Gardner, who has two sons in Ardsley elementary schools, served as a member of a study committee to prepare for the accreditation of the Ardsley High School by the Middle States Association.

Gardner is professionally employed as the director of finance, Washington Irving Council, Boy Scouts of America, with headquarters in White Plains.

A non-partisan nominating committee, as envisaged by AAUW, would be composed of representatives of various civic organizations and members-at-large. According to tentative plans, each organization would be represented by two delegates.

The terms of President Robert Herzog and Vice-President Robert O'Reilly of the Kingston Board of Education will expire next spring. They will be replaced in elections to be held in May.

Under the present system any resident of the school district may become a candidate by obtaining 100 signatures on a petition. It is the feeling of AAUW that candidates should be carefully screened in order to obtain those best qualified.

The committee, after selection of candidates, would support their campaign for election, according to the plan envisaged by AAUW.

Deadline Nov. 20 For Purchases in N.Y. Contract Plan

George Majestic, Democratic supervisor of the town of Gardiner, who has long advocated town purchases through the State Division of Standards and Purchase, Albany, reports the "deadline" for filing requests with the State for 1961, is Nov. 20.

Among the items which Supervisor Majestic alleges can be purchased through the State contract plan, in addition to machinery, is road oil for town use. Majestic has repeatedly brought this matter before the Board of Supervisors. He states that the 1960 price of road oil through State contract price was .1188 cents per gallon while the county price was .1665 cents per gallon for the same grade of oil.

Majestic calls attention of town officials that if they desire to participate in the State contract prices, requests must be in at Albany by Nov. 20.

Early Slam Cue Too Complicated

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

How do you handle the South hand after your partner opens one heart and raises you in spades?

You surely are interested in six and maybe in seven and want to ask about aces. So you bid four no-trump and your partner responds five diamonds. In Blackwood this shows one ace. If it is the ace of diamonds, you want to be in six; if it is the ace of clubs you are not sure. In any event you probably bid six on the theory that even if your partner's ace is the club ace, he may also hold the king of diamonds or a diamond may not be opened.

If you happen to be playing the Culbertson 4-5 no-trump you have no problem at all. His five diamond bid shows the ace of diamonds or no diamonds at all. With the ace of clubs he would have bid five clubs; with two aces he would have bid two no-trump. So you go to six with complete confidence.

With all these advantages why is the Culbertson 4-5 no-trump convention as dead as the dodo today. There are two reasons. First of all, it was a trifle too complicated for the average player, but more important still, it was too restricted. You needed either two aces and the king of a bad suit or three aces to bid no-trump.

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's new first lady—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy—believes her main duty is "to take care of the President so he can best serve the people."

Next, she hopes she won't fail her family—and can bring up her children in a fishbowl atmosphere without spoiling them.

In the long months of the presidential campaign, Mrs. Kennedy—young, beautiful and used to a leisurely life—slowly grew to the realization that she might actually spend the next four years in the White House.

At first, she didn't seem to take the idea seriously. But, by Election Day, Mrs. Kennedy knew what she was facing.

She predicts the pressures of the next decade will be so great that the president "will have to work harder than ever before." As for the first lady, because of official and social responsibilities, she cannot expect to be a "completely private person."

May Follow Eleanor

Mrs. Kennedy, 31, and the third youngest of the nation's first ladies, refused to make any pre-election comments on what she might do as a president's wife. But she indicated she would make of the role what her husband wanted her to. If he says so, that might even include writing a column about her own activities and holding periodic news conferences as did Eleanor Roosevelt.

Mrs. Kennedy, in campaign comments, has indicated her interest in her husband's programs such as education, exchange students and medical care for the aged.

However, the first thing facing Mrs. Kennedy — even before the inauguration ceremonies on Jan. 20—is the birth of her second child. It is due about Dec. 15 and is expected to be born in a New York hospital.

The Kennedys already have a daughter, Caroline, who will be 3 Nov. 29.

Mrs. Kennedy comes to the White House with a background of society, wealth and little experience in the work aday world. She paid little attention to politics before her marriage to young Sen. Kennedy in 1953.

Declared Most Beautiful

Dark-haired, with the slender 5-foot-7 figure of a fashion model, Mrs. Kennedy was declared the most beautiful debutante of the year in Newport, R.I., and New York in 1948.

One of Mrs. Kennedy's main duties now will be as official hostess at the traditional White House formal social season and state dinners for visiting foreign dignitaries.

Her unusual language ability — fluency in French, Italian and Spanish — should make visitors from abroad particularly happy with America's new White House hostess.

Is Socialite Heiress

A socialite heiress, Mrs. Kennedy was born in July 28, 1929, in swank Southhampton, Long Island. She is the daughter of the late John V. Bouvier III, a New York stockbroker. Her mother, the former Janet Lee of New York, later divorced Bouvier and married wealthy Republican Hugh D. Auchincloss, whose "Merrywood" estate is not far from the White House on the edge of the Potomac at McLean, Va.

She is a Catholic, like her husband.

Educational Background

Jackie spent two years at Vassar, making a scholastic record of all a-minus grades. She joined a Smith College group to spend her junior year at the Sorbonne in Paris, studying art and developing an interest in 18th and 19th century Europe that continues today. She was graduated from George Washington University here. After her marriage, she took a course there in American history to bone up on one of her husband's favorite subjects.

After leaving college, Jacqueline decided to try for her first and only job. Though she lacked experience, she was given a crack at the job of inquiring camera girl on the Washington Times-Herald. Starting out early in 1952, she learned how to use a camera and to develop her own film. Among the Washington notables she interviewed on various topical subjects were then Vice President Richard M. Nixon and her husband-to-be, then the youngest senator.

Real Difficult Ordeal

After watching the latest presidential campaign from the sidelines and in the midst of the fabulous New York ticker tape reception, Mrs. Kennedy wrote in one of her "campaign wife" columns:

"I am not sure I share the supposed dream of American women to see their sons be president — being president is one thing; you could not help but be proud of that — but running for the office is another; an ordeal you would wish to spare sons and husbands."

Much of Farm Belt for Nixon

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Much of the Midwestern farm belt wound up on the losing side in the apparent presidential victory of Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon got a large portion of his electoral votes in traditionally Republican agricultural states.

That was a region Democrats had hoped would revolt over controversial farm policies of the Eisenhower administration.

But there was little evidence of such a revolt despite pledges of Kennedy to push a new farm program designed to boost agricultural prices and incomes.

The farm belt rejection of Kennedy raised early speculation that Democrats might modify their program in the direction followed by the present administration.

The Midwestern voting indicated farmers may have been influenced by issues other than farm problems, notably Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion.

The farm belt voting gave some support to claims of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that farmers were not unhappy and that they prefer the Eisenhower program aimed at getting government out of agriculture to Kennedy's proposal for enlarging government's role.

Nixon sought to divorce himself from Benson, but nevertheless advanced a farm program that was fairly close to that of Eisenhower and Benson.

The election set forth boldly the declining importance of the farm vote. This decline reflects the fact that farmers are becoming a smaller and smaller portion of the total population of the country as well as of the farm states themselves.

Minnesota . . .

a president-elect but not for a losing candidate.

Kennedy amassed his impressive total by taking the electoral vote of 19 states and winning the support of five of Alabama's 11 electors. The state's other six were uncommitted.

Downing Is Difficult

But the Democratic candidate was finding Nixon a difficult man to down finally, despite the fact that the vice president all but conceded defeat in an early morning television appearance from Los Angeles.

Nixon in fact was cutting steadily into Kennedy's lead in Illinois, throwing that state's 27 electoral votes into doubt. At that point the Democratic nominee still could win with either Minnesota's 11 or California's 32. But Nixon, who was polling about 49.5 per cent of the national popular vote, was pushing Kennedy in those states, too.

Ike Not Happy

President Eisenhower's first official caller today reported the President looked fine, "but he's not happy about the results of the election."

C. Burke Elbrick, U.S. ambassador to Portugal, called at the White House before departing for his post in Lisbon.

Nixon had all but conceded defeat, but had not communicated directly with the apparent victor.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said the senator was aware he had won, but it was indicated Kennedy would withhold any formal statement until he had heard from Nixon.

Salinger's victory claim was based on a report to Kennedy headquarters that he had definitely won California.

The vice president did not finally concede defeat in his post-midnight television appearance from Los Angeles. He said that if the trend of the vote count continued without significant change "Sen. Kennedy will be the next president of the United States."

Holds Back Tears

Mrs. Nixon, fighting to hold back the tears, stood at his side as the Republican candidate smilingly thanked those who had worked for him in the feverish day-and-night campaigning that ended for both candidates with Tuesday's record balloting.

Nixon said he wanted Kennedy to know that if he does become president "he will have my wholehearted support."

At Hyannis Port, Mass., Kennedy avoided making any statement on the returns. They showed him with a narrow popular vote lead over Nixon. But there was a possibility he would wind up with substantially more than the 269 electoral votes needed to make him the fourth Democratic president of the 20th century.

Associated Press nationwide returns at 5 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, from 126,092 of 166,094 voting units:

Kennedy 27,453,968 (50.7 per cent).

Nixon 26,649,988 (49.3 per cent).

The Democratic candidate had won or led in 23 states with 331 electoral votes. The vice president had won or was ahead in 26 states with 192 electoral votes. Mississippi gave its eight votes to unpledged electors.

At 5:30 a.m. EST Kennedy had rolled up a total of 255 of the 269 electoral votes needed for victory.

Kennedy, who campaigned on the theme that the country had lost prestige abroad and had stood still at home under the Eisenhower administration, carved out his apparent victory in the larger industrial states.

Ohio for Nixon

Of the biggest seven, he won or led in New York, California, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Texas. Only Ohio out of this group favored Nixon.

Republicans picked up two seats in the Senate, with victories over Democratic opponents in Delaware and Wyoming. With only the Democratic seat in Montana in doubt, the Senate lineup stood: 63 Democrats, 36 Republicans.

With 53 House races still in doubt, Republicans had made a net gain of 14 to push their total of 114 against the Democrats' 239. In 27 governor races, Democrats had elected 12, for a net gain of 14 to push their total to 144 against the Democrats' 239.

In 27 governor races, Democrats had elected 12, for a net gain of three. Republicans had elected nine and six races remained in doubt.

There was nothing very consistent about the election results. Kennedy carried his home state of Massachusetts impressively but GOP Sen. Leverett Saltonstall was re-elected and a Republican, John A. Volpe, was elected governor.

In several states where Nixon held the lead over Kennedy, Democrats either had been elected or were leading for governor. These included Indiana, Wisconsin, Nebraska and South Dakota.

So while the outcome was pretty much in the cards once the first substantial returns rolled in, the results were by no means a massive, overpowering landslide for Kennedy.

The senator simply scooped up states with more people and more electoral votes, just as he had set out to do.

Couldn't Match Appeal

However, the victory was accomplished whatever its size, it restored the White House to Democratic domain after eight Republican years—years in which Kennedy said this country was standing still and losing prestige.

Nixon had matched Kennedy in staging the hardest most arduous political campaigns America ever had seen. But he couldn't match the magic appeal of his mentor, President Eisenhower.

Ike Summons Cabinet

President Eisenhower called the Cabinet into session today to study the question of how to accomplish the transition of government to a new president next Jan. 20.

The presidential race was a see-saw battle as the vote count proceeded during the night. Nixon jumped into an early lead, as first returns came in from states favoring him. Then Kennedy forged ahead to hold a lead through the night.

Kennedy lopped off Connecticut early, a performance that had been forecast. But his margin there was larger than even the Democrats had forecast. It set the pattern for the hop-skip-and-jump margins he rolled up across the country, with New Yorks 45 electoral votes as his principal prize.

Virginia for Nixon

Kennedy lost areas in the South and border states where his Roman Catholic religion had been expected to be costly to him. Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee and Oklahoma went against him. Sen. Harry F. Byrd, who took no position in the presidential contest, helped give Virginia to Nixon.

But, surprisingly, Kennedy salvaged South Carolina, which the Republicans confidently had been claiming, and North Carolina, which Nixon personally believed he had a better than even chance to carry.

The Democratic candidate carried the heavily Protestant state of West Virginian where he got his big surge toward his party's nomination by winning a May primary.

The impact of Kennedy's Catholicism was not difficult to discern. He won in many areas where the Catholic vote was heaviest, in such states as Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. He won in key industrial states, where the Catholic vote also was heavy. Those were the states in which the electoral votes were largest.

President Sends Congratulations To Sen. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today sent his congratulations to Democratic President-elect John F. Kennedy "for the victory you have just won at the polls."

The President said he will send the new president-elect a more comprehensive message later "suggesting certain measures that may commend themselves to you as you prepare to take over next January the responsibilities of the presidency."

The message to Kennedy was released by the White House together with three other telegrams. Thy went to the losers, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and to the vice president-elect, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

In his message to Nixon, Eisenhower said: "Your hard-fought courageous campaign to carry forward the principle of sound government will have my lasting respect.

"It has been a matter of deep personal satisfaction to have served closely with you these past eight years and I shall always cherish your friendship."

Eisenhower's message to Kennedy, sent to the Hyannis Port, Mass., home of the president-elect was far more terse and formal.

"My congratulations to you for the victory you have just won at the polls. I will be sending you promptly a more comprehensive telegram suggesting certain measures that may commend themselves to you as you prepare to take over next January the responsibilities of the presidency."

Two Are Caught In Dayton by FBI, Held on Warrants

A 17-year-old Albany girl and a 24-year-old Dayton, Ohio, man both wanted in Poughkeepsie on charges of burglary have been apprehended at Newport, Ky., by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

Alfred W. Dorstek Jr., and Miss Alice Maki were taken into custody by the FBI on Federal warrants issued in New York, Cincinnati and Jacksonville, Fla., charging them with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in that they allegedly committed a burglary and armed robbery.

H. G. Foster, special agent in charge of the New York FBI office said Dorstek and the girl were identified as having committed a burglary at the M. A. Davis Mattress Co., on lower Main Street, Poughkeepsie, and also were identified as participating in an armed robbery of a supermarket at Kettering, Ohio last September when $2,218 was taken.

Foster also said the pair is accused of negotiating many fraudulent checks along the Eastern seaboard, Southwest and Midwest.

Poughkeepsie Police Chief John Martin said Tuesday that warrants have been issued charging Dorstek and Miss Maki with burglarizing the Davis establishment, and another warrant charged Dorstek with issuing a $1,000 worthless check at Flo's Furniture store, Poughkeepsie.

Are Picking Jury For Retrial of 2 in Po'keepsie

Two Puerto Rican farmhands who were sentenced in October, 1958 at Poughkeepsie to prison terms of 10 to 30 years for allegedly assaulting a youth and taking a few cigarettes, entered its second day in Dutchess County Court today with examination by attorneys of prospective trial jurors.

Carmelo Carabello, 27, and Gasper de Jesus, 26, were accused of assaulting Charles R. Anson, 18, of Poughkeepsie and taking his cigarettes as he walked along Main Street on the morning of July 5, 1958.

Carabello and de Jesus were convicted of first degree grand larceny, and because it was allegedly committed by way of assault, Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz imposed the prison sentences as stipulated by law for the particular type of crime.

On June 14 the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court ordered a new trial after reversing the 10 to 30 year prison sentences against the defendants. The Appellate justices said improper testimony was used to convict the farmhands, who were employed in Putnam County at the time of their arrests.

Carabello and de Jesus insisted they were innocent of the charges.

At the close of yesterday's session, court was adjourned until Wednesday at 10 a. m.

At 10:30 a.m., CST, with 487 of 10,015 precincts yet to be counted, Nixon led Kennedy, 2,235,304 to 2,230,782, a scant 4,522 votes.

AUBURN, N. Y. (AP)—A Democrat has been elected sheriff of Cayuga County for the first time in history.

James McDonald, who operates a large dairy farm in Throop, defeated Republican Gordon Fritts by an unofficial 4,523 votes in Tuesday's election.

McDonald succeeds Willard Wilcox, who had served 24 years. Wilcox, 84, was sidetracked by the Republican party in favor of Fritts, a former deputy. Wilcox lost in the courts an attempt to gain sufficient signatures to be placed on the ballot.

Tree Trust Now Organized; Outlines Five-Point Program

Woodstock has its tree trust!

The appeal for the creation of a Woodstock Tree Trust by the Woodstock Association in its Aug. 2 bulletin, seconded by the Woodstock Garden Club, brought a flood of enthusiastic mail as well as unsolicited spontaneous contributions. As a result, last month the Woodstock Tree Trust became an officially established organization.

In keeping with the name chosen, the legal form selected for the new organization is that of a Trust. On Oct. 25, using the contributions already received, a deed of trust was made with the Bank of Orange County as the trustee. This initial fund will now be continuously augmented by yearly contributions of donors (rather than members) as well as by single gifts and donations. The minimum yearly donation to receive a donor card has been fixed at five dollars.

The day to day operations of the tree trust will be carried out by its Management Committee, consisting of seven members and assisted by associates qualified in various aspects of the work. The Management Committee consists of the supervisor of the Town of Woodstock (ex officio); two delegates from the Woodstock Garden Club (Miss Florence Hubbard and Mrs. Joseph K. Inness); two delegates from the Woodstock Association (Alvin E. Moscowitz and J. S. vanRijn) a representative of the Bank of Orange County (Elbert C. Varney) and a citizen-at-large chosen for one year, Lamont W. Marvin.

Program Outlined

The aims of the Woodstock Tree Trust are well defined in its 5-point program which is as follows:

1) To sponsor and bring about the planting of trees along roads and highways and in public areas.

2) To organize and administer a permanent service for the protection and maintenance of ornamental and shade trees which are of public interest.

3) To sponsor and support the institution of a Shade Tree Fund by the Town Board of Woodstock as provided for in Section 153 of the New York State Highway Law.

4) To cooperate with town, county, state and federal governments, as well as with civic groups in the township on matters pertaining to trees.

5) To be of service to the citizens of the township of Woodstock in matters regarding shade and ornamental trees that are or may become of public interest.

The task is not a simple one, because this is not a common program and no cut and dried procedure can be followed. The committee will make it a point to proceed strictly on a well-founded technical basis. Not only will it seek the advice of experts in the several aspects of its work, but it has been decided to attract some qualified public speakers to Woodstock who can familiarize the citizenry as a whole on how we may best go about such a program. Not all the cost for executing these works need necessarily be carried by the residents, and the committee intends to carefully investigate what machinery can be set in motion to obtain the greatest amount of participaion from county, state and federal agencies.

The Woodstock Tree Trust welcomes inquiries about its program and, of course, contributions toward the cause. The address is P. O. Box 23, Woodstock, N. Y. Besides yearly donations, gifts and grants are solicited, which are expected to become tax deductible.

Religious Census Figures Announced

Figures released today by the committee on the Woodstock Community Religious Census indicate that 58 per cent of the family units contacted by the committee are of the Protestant faith.

The next largest single bloc is the Roman Catholic faith with 20 per cent.

Broken down by denominations, the Protestant figures are: Methodist, 16 per cent; Reformed, 15 per cent; Lutheran, seven per cent; Episcopal, seven per cent; Presbyterian, two per cent; mixed Protestants, 12 per cent; no preference or unknown, 12 per cent.

The census showed a 6 per cent Jewish faith and two per cent Christian Scientists.

The census covered more than half of the Woodstock area. Of the families that were contacted the percentage listed above reflect the approximate religious complexion of the community.

The committee composed of the Protestant ministers of the Woodstock area wish to thank the press and all those who cooperated in the census. The information which the census has made possible will be used by the churches of the area for the purpose of contacting potential members.

WAA Publicity Head Resigns

Marguerite Evans Isaacs has addressed the following open letter to all members of the Woodstock Artists Association:

"This will inform you that on Labor Day, last Sept. 5, during the first meeting of the new executive committee, voted in a few days previously at the annual meeting of the Association, the writer decided to resign the office of publicity chairman for the ensuing year.

"The most immediate reasons for this decision were on points of difference concerning the calendar of exhibitions for Summer Season of 1961 which it was my opinion merited more careful discussions and consideration. There was, also, a difference relative to the always present subject of proper and fair methods of decision by which members, if any, should be chosen to comprise the various exhibitions of the 1961 season. My opinion on these important membership considerations seemed to be that of a majority of one, and consequently, no discussion on the points of difference was considered justified.

"The writer thanks all members of the Association for their vote of confidence at the annual meeting. In reaching the decision to resign from the executive board, as presently composed, I believe I have justified the confidence and trust.

"It is my sincere hope that future plans for the dwindling membership of the organization will despite present indications, prove of constructive and happy consequence to all of us in the reference of each individual's right to exhibit to his work, for public approval, with regularity and benefit ... MARGUERITE EVANS ISAACS."

True status and security will be dealt with in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mortals and Immortals" at Christian Science services in Woodstock Sunday.

"Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace" (Psalms 37:37) is one of the Bible passages to be read.

Citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (267:3-5): "The offspring of God start not from matter or ephemeral dust. They are in and of spirit, divide Mind and so forever continue."

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians (5:17): "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold all things are become anew."

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The following is the type of items I like to collect, because once it is lost, it is gone forever. This is taken from a Kingston Argus of Wednesday, Feb. 26, 1890, from a collection of newspapers given me by Attorney Peter Harp of New Paltz and concerns "The First Steamboat." It seems this was from extracts of a diary of an old New Yorker named Oliver Morhouse who had witnessed the experimental trip of the first steamboat built by Robert Fulton.

This is what Oliver Morhouse wrote at the time: "At the pier, at the foot of Murray Street, in the summer of 1807, the first successful experiment of propelling a vessel by steam was made by Robert Fulton. The Clermont was of ordinary build, so far as the hull was concerned, but the upper works, which formed her promenade deck and which inclosed the machinery, were a rough framework covered with unplaned boards, and having square holes cut out for windows. It looked more like a flat-roofed cow shed than like the cabin of a boat."

Mr. Morhouse's diary further reads: "When the morning that she was advertised to leave the wharf arrived, the piers above and below were crowded with spectators, who had come to witness the sequel to 'Fulton's folly,' as a large majority of people sneeringly termed it. Many were certain of the failure of the experiment, and when after leaving the dock, and well into the river with her course towards Albany, her wheels suddenly stopped revolving, and the ebbing tide bade fair to carry her out on an Atlantic voyage, the croakers were jubilant."

He further wrote "'Just as I always said;' 'well, I am sorry for Fulton's friends;' 'what little he loses, serves him right;' 'experience is a dear school, but fools can learn in no other.' Such remarks might be heard on right and left.

"The stoppage was said to be caused by some trifling deficiency in the machinery, which had not been noticed until put in motion. After about 20 or 30 minutes she proceeded again with increased celerity, passing her dock and the hearty applause of hundreds of citizens who had crowded the shore to witness the curiosity. The Clermont triumphantly accomplished her voyage to Albany without accident or further detention."

Robert Fulton and the Clermont are part of our Hudson River history. The replica of the Clermont was down in our Kingston Point Park lagoon for many years. Robert Fulton, when 17 years old, had already achieved the distinction of being an artist who sold his paintings and could support his mother. In 1785 (he was born in 1765) at the age of 20 he was listed in the directory of 1785 of Philadelphia as a miniature painter. Among his oil portraits at the time is one of Benjamin Franklin. His panel portrait of Joel Barlow, was engraved by the famous Durand, for the National Portrait Gallery in 1834.

Going through the lives of famous men, and artists especially, so often one sees that talent comes to youngsters early. I think years back they had more chance than they do today, and much earlier in life. Sports seems to stand way above talent in this most progressive modern world, when talent is needed most, to encourage and of course recognize it.

To Measure Liquids

A measuring cut that has a space above the 1 cup line should be used in measuring liquids for recipes. Cooks have a tendency to skimp in measuring liquids which this type of cup helps to prevent. It's spillproof, too!

PIE IN THE AISLE—About four hundred and twenty blackbirds could fit into this huge pie viewed by a shopper in a Kansas City, Mo., market. The apple pie is five feet in diameter. It was baked in a special four-inch-deep tin.

Think It Through

RUSSIAN MIGHT OR MYTH

Every cloud has a silver lining. One benefit from Khrushchev's invasion of the Disunited Nations is that we now see what a braggart and bully he is. When alleged statesmen take off their shoes to pound the desk, you can sense a hidden weakness within.

E. F. Hutton

Cyrus Eaton may still think Khrushchev is a great and good man, but for most of our previously hypnotized Americans the bloom is off the rose.

This is a good time to speak of a new book by the Editor of THE INDIANAPOLIS STAR. It is "American Might and Soviet Myth," by J. G. Campaigne, published by the Henry Regnery Company.

Mr. Campaigne is not scared of Mr. K. He has weighed Mr. K. in the balance and found him wanting. He cites pages of facts and figures, from authoritative sources, to demonstrate the claims of Soviet might are mostly bluster and bluff.

He quotes Wing Commander Lee of the Royal Air Force of Great Britain as saying, flatly, that the Soviets cannot hit the U. S. accurately with any rocket they now have.

However that may be, he quotes our own Admiral Burke, the Generals Maxwell Taylor and Nathan Twining, that we could blow the Reds off the globe even if they first made a surprise attack on the U. S.

Hearing for Two In Fight Slated Today in Court

Two men were scheduled for a hearing in a Rosendale justice of the peace court this afternoon to answer to charges emanating from a fight over politics at the Bloomington Inn Monday night and a verbal argument during their arraignment later.

Joseph Reid, 51, of Main Street, Rosendale, and Robert Connelly, 32 of High Falls, were charged with disroderly conduct first on complaint of Philip Mikesh, bartender at the inn.

Mikesh contended they fought over politics and that tables, ash trays and clothes racks were damaged and broken.

Two deputy sheriffs, Thomas Mayone and Arthur Smith, who were called, took the pair before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky of the Town of Rosendale.

Deputy Mayone placed a public intoxication charge against the two there for continuing their argument in a boisterous manner.

Justice Brodsky released the men on bail for a hearing today at 2 p. m. Each paid $100 to go free on the disorderly conduct charges, and $10 on the public intoxication charges.

Reid gave his occupation as an operating engineer, Connelly as a salesman.

Program Is . . .

Civil Air Patrol, will address the gathering.

Write-ins Fail

Miller to Quit Syracuse Post

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Charles J. Miller, whose write-in campaign for district attorney failed, said today he would resign as a prosecutor. In that post, he handled a special grand jury probe of vice and official corruption in Onondaga County.

Miller, an assistant district attorney, said he never would be able to work with Democrat Joseph A. Ryan, who upset Charles A. McNett, the Republican nominee, in the district attorney race.

Miller, a Republican, drew 9,000 write-in votes.

His campaign manager, lawyer Abraham Ziegler, asked the state attorney general to investigate after he contended that many Miller supporters had been unable to write in their votes.

The attorney general's office said it had found some mechanical problems in the voting machines but they were remedied.

The attorney general contemplated no further action, a spokesman said.

Ryan, a police judge in North Syracuse, polled 90,648 votes to 85,425 for McNett, who is first assistant district attorney.

The present district attorney, Arthur Wilson, declined to seek re-election.

Gov. Rockefeller sponsored Proposition 1, saying:

"The well-being of our people requires the preservation of our fast-disappearing lands for outdoor recreation."

The proposition would authorize the state to purchase open land for playgrounds, hunting, skiing, beaches, fishing, camping and boating sites. The bond issue would be paid off through fees collected from users of the facilities.

The $75 million would be spent this way:

Spending Formula

The state would use $35 million to expand its parks and recreation sites. The other $40 million would be divided among localities to expand their recreational holdings — $12 million to New York City, $12 million to other cities, and $16 million to counties, towns and villages.

The local government would appropriate $1 million of its own funds for each $3 million received from the state.

In recommending the housing subsidy proposition, Rockefeller said the additional funds would assure the ability of municipalities to carry out planned housing and urban renewal.

He said changes in the bond market might bring about lower interest rates and make use of additional subsidies unnecessary, but that the money should be available if needed.

Both Faced Opposition

Both propositions faced organized pre-election opposition.

The Route 9 Improvement Association in Northern New York, claiming to represent 800 proprietors of roadside businesses, charged that Proposition 1 had the "diabolical" aim of enabling the state to control the roadside industry.

The association said the bond issue money could be used for state-operated gasoline stations, motels, restaurants and gift shops adjacent to interstate expressways now being built—as well as for park and recreation areas.

Real estate and home building groups assailed proposition 2 as amounting to a "giveaway" and "socialized housing."

John B. Swift, president of the State Association of Real Estate Boards, called the proposition socialized housing and said it would discourage ownership of homes.

Jack Friedman, president of the State Home Builders Association, described it as a 'giveaway" that would be borne primarily by home owners.

Teachers Accept

City Central Labor Council and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, recommended these labor leaders as intermediaries in the dispute: David Dubinsky and Jacob Potofsky, vice presidents of the AFL-CIO, and Harry Van Arsdale Jr., president of the City Central Labor Council.

The UFT has sought duty-free lunch periods, more sick pay and higher salaries than the current range of $4,800 to $8,300 a year.

The Board of Education already has agreed in principle to two other demands, a union checkd off system and steps toward collective bargaining.

Financial Transactions

(Morgan Davis & Co.)

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined sharply in lively trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks fell from fractions to about 2 points.

A large cloud of uncertainty hung over Wall Street and many investors were baffled by the implications of the long drawn-out tally of presidential election returns.

The street reacted as it always does to uncertainty. Traders pulled in their horns.

Early in the session prices were mixed with the aircraft-missile stocks and gold shares prominently on the upside. Their advance faded into a hodge-podge of gains and losses.

Sharply lower were steels, autos, rails, oils, and electrical equipments.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.90 to 209.90 with the industrials down 3.20, the rails down 1.20 and the utilities down .40.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 7.66 at 589.97.

Corporate bonds were mixed U.S. government bonds advanced.

Vermont Elects Stafford, Ousts House Democrat

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—Vermonters have elected a Republican the youngest governor in state history, and unseated the first Democrat to represent them in Congress since before the Civil War.

The traditional GOP stronghold backed the Republican ticket from top to bottom Tuesday, giving its three electoral votes to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Republican Gov. Robert T. Stafford beat Democratic U. S. Rep. William H. Meyer by nearly 25,000 votes.

F. Ray Keyser, 33 - year-old speaker of the House, was elected governor over Democrat Russel F. Niquette.

A record total of more than 167,000 voters turned out.

Nixon polled 98,157 votes to 69,382 for Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy on the basis of unofficial returns from the 246 cities and towns. Vermont never has given its electoral votes to a Democratic presidential candidate.

Kennedy, who made a brief election eve stop in Burlington, piled up more votes in Vermont than had any other Democratic candidate for the White House.

Reports Milk Prices Stable Since 1954

WASHINTON (APG)—The Agriculture Department said prices received by farmers for milk and cream have been reasonably stable since the downward adjustment of support levels in 1954.

The average price received by farmers was $3.97 for 100 pounds of milk in 1954. It moved upward moderately each year to a peak of $4.21 in 1957, then receded in the last three years to the area of $4.12 to $4.15.

Some increase in production of milk during 1960 and a larger proportion of the production sold has led to a new record high in total volume of sales by farmers. Even with prices below the levels of the early 1950s, the volume sold in 1960 is building up to a new high in cash receipts from sale of dairy products for the year. It will be about $4.75 billion in 1960 compared with $4.6 billion in 1958 and 1959.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Investment Advisor and Analyst

Not Broker's Fault
Unpredictable Market

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "A widower, I confine my market activities to helping out my three grown children. I am in my early 70's and am financially independent. My broker suggested this year that I switch from Northern Illinois Gas into Borg-Warner. I did this, but it has proved to be a mistake since the former has advanced while the latter has declined. Should I sell Borg-Warner at a $10 a share loss and reinvest in Southern Company?"—J. M.

A) The advice your broker gave you would not have been bad advice under certain conditions; but as business has developed this year, it was poorly timed. You perhaps didn't realize that you were giving up a stable gas utility with increasing earnings and dividends for a cyclical situation which fluctuates widely in line with unpredictable conditions in several major industries.

Borg-Warner (NYSE) is a good company, turning out automobile parts, washing machines, air conditioners, and building equipment, principally. All of these lines are currently suffering from intensified competition. The shares are quite reasonably priced now, but I think recovery will be slow.

Southern Co. (NYSE) is one of the very best of the fast growth electric utilities. I think you would make up your loss more quickly in this situation and I advise you to make the switch.

Q) "We bought some Studebaker Packard when it was rather high. It is now half of what we paid for it. Would you advise selling it now or keeping it?"—A. R.

A) I think the outlook for your stock is very poor. Earnings for the first nine months of 1960 have dropped to 2 cents a share, and diversification efforts have borne little fruit. I have consistently recommended the sale of this stock since early March, when it was selling much higher, and I see no reason to change my opinion now.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

DeSapio Talks On Rocky's Role

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic National Committeeman Carmine G. DeSapio says he assumes that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller "will adopt the mantle of leadership in the Republican party from here on in—on a pay-as-you go basis."

DeSapio made the comment in answer to newsmen's questions early today as election returns indicated defeat of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Rockefeller, who abandoned his quest of the Republican presidential nomination last Christmas time, campaigned for the Nixon-Lodge ticket and other GOP candidates in the fall campaign.

DeSapio's comment on Rockefeller's future role took into account his efforts as governor to put the state largely on a pay-as-you-go basis.

After DeSapio spoke and smiled, Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast chimed in: "I'll go along with that."

Bermuda was named after Juan de Bermudez, 16th century Spanisht explorer.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF ALL ADVERTISING STOPPED ?

Stores would begin cancelling orders. Very quickly, manufacturers would close down plants and lay off millions of employees. Volume production would be a thing of the past . . . and so, prices would rise fast.

Within a week most radio and television stations would close up shop for lack of revenue. The ability of many newspapers and magazines to perform their full, vital functions would be seriously impaired. And the cost per copy would zoom for those that tried to keep running only on circulation revenues.

This alternative to advertising can hardly be the goal of the critics of advertising. Without advertising our national economy, our national life, would be bleak indeed. In many ways, advertising is the power plant of our society.

MORE CUSTOMERS FOR MORE PRODUCTS—American creative genius and wonderful ability for organization have resulted in a tremendous flow of goods of all kinds. This creates a crucial need for masses of people anxious, willing and able to buy and consume these goods. Only a society with a constantly rising standard of living can provide the customers. These customers have to be sought, taught and often persuaded to move higher in the scale of living. This is the job of advertising.

Advertising not only gives people news about new products, but provides the urge for people to own and enjoy these products. The wider and deeper the penetration of our products into the life of America, the greater the need for more production. This means more jobs. More jobs mean more people able to enjoy what we make. More people buying means more, still more production. And so on and so on. The result is that more Americans can enjoy more of the fruits of their labor than people in any country anywhere in the world can enjoy theirs.

ADVERTISING LOWERS PRICES—Does advertising raise the cost of goods? On the contrary. Through newspapers, television, magazines, radio and billboards, an advertiser can talk to a prospect for a tiny fraction of a cent. Advertising is the quickest and cheapest way of reaching large numbers of people. It enables the advertiser to reach his market (customers) inexpensively and thus increase his total production, thereby reducing the cost of making and selling each unit.

THE CULTURAL EFFECTS OF ADVERTISING — It's because of advertising that our mass media of communication can afford to command the finest talent for bringing to the American people information, stimulation, entertainment and education which in other countries are available to just a very few people.

Advertising makes its cultural contribution in another way. Advertising is in large measure responsible for better living, less drudgery, more leisure for more people. This creates opportunities for intellectual and spiritual activities equaled in few, if any, other countries. While millions and millions of dollars are being spent by Americans for cars, boats, sports equipment and the paraphernalia of leisure, there is a growing hunger for improvement of the mind and for aesthetic enjoyment.

WHAT ARE THE "NEEDS" OF THE PEOPLE?—Critics of advertising sometimes indict it for creating dissatisfaction in people's minds with what they have, and persuading and cajoling them into buying what they neither need nor want. But what are "needs?" The "needs" of people in undeveloped countries are not the same as our needs. Our needs of 50 years ago are not the same as they are today. We don't actually "need" electric razors, electric refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, television sets, shampoos, beauty treatments, packaged goods, or even automobiles. But would the critics of advertising stop encouraging people to want a better life? Would they have the millions of people who create, produce, and market the so-called "non-essentials" thrown out of jobs? Do they want us to go back to the more primitive living of other countries?

ADVERTISING — PUBLIC SERVANT—Frequently, the advertising industry is called on to direct public-service jobs—for the Government as well as for private public-service organizations. This it does through the Advertising Council, a non-profit organization supported by American business and advertising media. Here's what President Eisenhower said to the Advertising Council in Washington several months ago:

"For eighteen years you have been stimulating the nation's conscience in areas where the voluntary work of great numbers of people has been necessary in order to promote worthwhile causes. I know you have been in such fields as conservation, organized charities, safety, prevention of accidents, and more recently in giving your efforts to the job of pointing out to our people the need for self-discipline if we are to avoid debasement of our currency and prevent inflation.

"And I think no other body has done more in this regard in trying to inform America across the board of these things than The Advertising Council."

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—As the big Kennedy tide rolled in Tuesday night, it was pretty obvious that the most exciting and dramatic spectator sport on television is watching election returns.

All three networks did competent jobs of keeping the public abreast of the totals, but NBC and CBS turned in particularly brilliant performances.

It was smooth, well-organized and stimulating reporting all around, even though the trends showed early in the evening that Massachusetts senator was steadily increasing his lead.

All three networks planned to make the stars of their coverage electronic computers which were supposed to "project" the winner early in the evening. The magic machines soon named Kennedy but also confused the viewer with frequent reports of changing "odds" on the outcome. They ranged from 6 to 1 at 8:30 (EST) to 49 to 1 shortly after 10. NBC's brain got up to 333 to 1 briefly before shooting down to 6 to 1 again. Leonard Hall, Nixon's campaign manager, remarked during the evening that he'd like to junk the three machines, but perhaps they added to the general sense of excitement.

All networks had huge well-integrated teams covering the returns and all worked in the same general fashion, maintaining a steady check on the mounting national totals but also keeping tabs on state and local contests.

It was a long but wonderfully rewarding night of television which extended into the morning hours. Certainly there were some dull and barren spots—none of the "interpretation" and analyzing matched the news performances—and (again on CBS and NBC) the commercials seemed to turn up very often. But it was a night television can brag about for a long, long time.

Science at Work In Today's World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A political comment, clocking a snail's pace, and discovery of the darkest star figure in the week's science items:

Fools and Knaves

Voters whose man lost are likely to agree with a psychiatrist who declares politics is "the process by which the irrational basis of society is brought into the open."

Politicians and voters both respond chiefly to "unconscious and irrational" motives, says Dr. Edward J. Sheridan, University of Michigan. Partisan votes become a way of showing hostility against the opposing side, and each party seems to feel "it alone has a monopoly on wisdom and virtue, and that its opponents are all fools or knaves, or both."

Snail's Pace

Clocking snails, a scientist found the slowest one moved only ½ inch per minute. It would thus take the critter 88 days and nights to cover one mile.

A slug, or shell-less snail, was the real speedster among 16 North American snails and slugs clocked by John Oughton at the Royal Ontario Museum of Zoology, Canada. It covered 20 inches a minute. The average speed for all 16 was 6½ inches per minute.

Darkest Star

What may be the darkest star ever observed—two millionths as bright as the sun—is reported by Dr. W. J. Luyten of the University of Minnesota.

He discovered it while examining a par of photographic plates made at Mount Palomar. One plate, sensitive to red light, shows a star of about 20½ visual magnitude, below the brightness visible to the unaided eye. The plate sensitive to blue light snows no star at all in that same region.

Passing the Word

Listening is a prime means of getting information, but a study finds white collar workers, including executives, are only 25 per cent efficient in listening.

When company directors sent down messages, vice-presidents were found to understand 67 per cent of what was said, general supervisors understood 56 per cent, foremen 30 per cent, and workers less than 20 per cent of what was really said.

If you don't think scrapping the front axle has made a world of difference, you haven't driven a Chevy in a while. A few minutes behind the wheel and you can feel why drivers are happier and breakable loads are better protected. But the biggest advantage of all, you'll realize, is that the truck itself (sheet metal, tires, chassis components, everything) takes less abuse. With independent front suspension soaking up road shock and vibration, the truck lasts longer, goes extra thousands of profit-miles before trade-in time comes around. Add that to what everybody's always known about Chevy dependability and you find yourself looking at the soundest, surest truck investment you could bet your business on.

Earth, Stars and Man (21) Invisible Worlds

HUMAN POLIOMYELITIS VIRUS, MAGNIFIED 85,000 TIMES UNDER AN ELECTRON MICROSCOPE

FIELD-ION MICROSCOPE REVEALS ATOMIC STRUCTURE OF TIP OF TUNGSTEN WIRE MAGNIFIED 2,750,000 TIMES

In the quest for more knowledge about the workings of life, men have had to enter worlds we normally never see.

One of the most wonderful of man's artificial extensions to his senses is the microscope. But the ordinary optical microscope is limited. It can only magnify objects about 1,500 times. The indispensable tool today is the electron microscope, which magnifies up to some 200,000 times—capable of penetrating deep into the living cell and of revealing the smallest of organisms, the viruses.

Viruses illustrate the fact that it is difficult to say just what the difference is between living and nonliving things. For scientists have actually broken viruses down into their separate chemical parts, then reassembled them—literally manufactured viruses off the shelf.

No microscope, of course, is powerful enough to reveal atoms. In a certain experiment, however, physicist Dr. E. Muller of Pennsylvania State University succeeded in obtaining the amazing magnification of 2¾ million. His "field-ion" microscope projected an image of the actual atomic structure of the tip of a tungsten wire that was so thin as to be almost invisible.

Biologists are drawing near to an understanding of the way in which the cell reproduces itself. Present-day research indicates that the key is a long, chainlike molecule in the cell called deoxyribnucleic acid (DNA for short).

Two Britons, J. D. Watson and F. H. C. Crick, have made a "model" of this molecule. It looks like two interlocking spirals. The spirals are connected by four nitrogen compounds known by their initials: A, T, C and G.

It is believed that these four compounds are the "code letters" of life. A few thousand of them make up a gene; thousands of genes in the cell spell out the characteristics of every organism. Thus these four letters, arranged in seemingly endless combinations (possibly five billion in man), determine the shape and behavior of every thing that lives, ever did live or ever will live.

To crack this code is one of the greatest challenges of modern science.

Serve with Custard Sauce

Fresh apricots and peaches, strawberries and blueberries all benefit from being served with a custard sauce. You can use a mix (vanilla-flavored pudding or pie filling) for the sauce or make it from scratch.

Sugar and Flavoring

Don't add sugar and flavoring to cream you are whipping until after the cream begins to thicken. Count on using 2 to 3 tablespoons of sugar and 1 teaspoon of vanilla for 1 cup of cream to be whipped.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen are sizing up the election results today. But except for some impressionable stock traders, most observers think whatever real effect there will be on the business climate is months away.

The winner's policies, as distinct from campaign promises, are yet to take concrete form. And even after the new occupant of the White House has made these clear, most of them will still be up for the Congress to decide whether they will or won't become realities.

Market Reaction Vital

The stock market's reaction for a few days will tell a lot about what some traders think is in store.

But the history of the market's initial reflexes to election returns hasn't been impressive. In almost all instances it has been short-lived—reflecting the enthusiasm of partisans of the winning side and the gloom and doom feelings of partisans of the losing side. Usually the market has resumed quickly the course it already was taking.

Actual business conditions and prospects will count more the rest of this year than will guesses as to what the new administration may do—either to spur industry or to enact policies it considers restrictive.

Mere Guesses for Now

Even guesses as to whether a sound dollar or more inflation is in store will remain just that for some time—mere guesses.

Remember it is President Eisenhower who will deliver the State of the Union message next January. He will present the next budget to the new Congress. And while he is expected to consult his successor on the new budget, it's unlikely that President Eisenhower will propose any expenditures of which he strongly disapproves. They would have to wait until late in January at the earliest.

The incoming president has made it plain he expects to spend more money than the present one. Businessmen have already discounted this in advance, noting that in their campaign speeches both candidates had taken this stand.

Moves for Stability

The Federal Reserve Board has been moving since March — and especially in recent weeks — to make credit plentiful and interest rates lower. The U.S. Treasury, as a sort of counterbalance, has taken steps of late to keep short-term interest rates stable — and thus to retard the flow of U. S. dollars and gold abroad to more lucrative investment markets.

Moves to protect the dollar's stability already are under way. It will be some time before new administration policies could change this trend.

And international bankers note that both candidates during the closing weeks of the campaign promised, at least, to work for a sound dollar.

So the incoming president is pledged to be as much against inflation as he is against sin. The measures that will make or break his pledge are yet to be spelled out concretely.

Big Haul

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)— Thieves sometimes go to great lengths to make a haul. An Albuquerque firm reports someone made off with a bright orange, 1,200 gallon water tank weighing 2,500 pounds from the top of a 10,000 foot mountain east of the city.

Shokan

SHOKAN — Harrison Gridley, Shady resident and dean of northern Ulster educators, called on local friends Saturday. Professor Gridley formerly was principal of the Ashokan, or Olive District No. 4, School for many years.

George Burgher is reported ill at his home on the west side of the reservoir.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert left town last week for their winter home at Hollywood, Fla. William Stevens, local World War II veteran, will have charge of the Ruckert rental apartments in the village center during the winter months.

Mrs. Davis Harrison, Stone Ridge, was a Shokan caller Saturday. Mrs. Harrison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bloom who resided here in late waterworks days.

Olive Price, Washington, D. C., recently visited her brother, Donald Bishop who is home again following hospital treatment.

Albert Davis is grading the grounds of the new Bennett elementary school.

Item in the Shokan news to The Freeman, May 17, 1883: "Albert E. Schoonmaker, our painter, still stands to the head of the trout fishermen." (Schoonmaker, who was also one of the two undertakers in the old village, lived at the east end of the long bridge over the Esopus Creek. He with George Siemon and Golden VanBenschoten formed a trio who ranked all other Izaak Waltons in lifting 20 to 30-inch German Brown trout from the "big creek" half a century and more ago.)

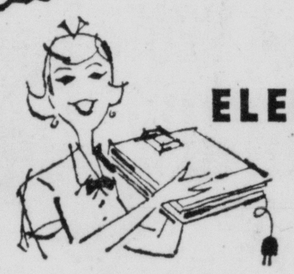

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whitford, Kingston, were Shokan callers Sunday. The couple report that their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, is now attending Washington, D. C., University. She was one of four seniors at Alfred University selected for studies at the Washington school.

There are more than 10 million books in the Library of Congress.

Display of Flag On Veterans Day Urged by Legion

A plea to have an American Flag flying at every home in Marbletown on Veterans Day, Nov. 11, was voiced today by Commander Edward Lowe of Marbletown Post No. 1512, American Legion.

"In the interest of showing the rest of the world the unity of the American people, every home throughout the land should display an American Flag on Veterans Day," Commander Lowe said.

To those who have been reluctant to display a flag because it contains fewer than 50 stars, Commander Lowe assured that "no American Flag is obsolete. Regardless of its age, as long as it is in good condition, it may be displayed on all appropriate occasions."

He further urged any home which does not have a flag to obtain one, not only for display on Veterans Day but all patriotic holidays.

His Wizardry Well Established

Johnson Certain to Bring Power Tactics to Vice President Post

By JULES LOH
Associated Press

A surprisingly boisterous chorus of $100-a-plate cheers erupted one night last spring when a special guest was introduced to a ballroom crowd of Connecticut Democrats.

Not completely startled by the enthusiasm, the master of ceremonies leaned toward Lyndon B. Johnson and whispered: "Next to Jack Kennedy, you've got the warmest response."

Today—next to Jack Kennedy—Lyndon Baines Johnson of Texas has the highest honor his countrymen can bestow, election to the vice presidency.

He steps into a post raised to political eminence, ironically, by the man he will succeed, Richard M. Nixon.

If there was any doubt of the newfound political significance of the vice president's chair it was buried quietly last summer in a Los Angeles hotel room when Johnson, left at the gate in his bid for the presidency, agreed to run for the second spot.

Is Power Wielder

As Senate majority leader he wielded great power on Capitol Hill, and Lyndon Johnson is not one to settle for a lesser role.

Johnson's legislative wizardry is well established. His lapel-to-lapel cloakroom tactics ranged from classroom logic (he once was a school teacher) to unmasked logrolling (he was chairman of the Democratic conference, policy and steering committees).

He was born in Texas hill country Aug. 27, 1908, into a family of modest means but rich political heritage.

Settled Course Himself

Both his father and grandfather served in the Texas Legislature, but it was not until Lyndon had satisfied a teen-age fling for adventure with a hitchhiking jaunt to California that he settled on a political course for himself.

After a heart-to-heart talk with his father, Lyndon borrowed $75 and set out for Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos. He graduated in 1930 and returned later as a teacher.

In 1937 Johnson ran for Congress and won over nine opponents by singing loudly a New Deal theme that won the attention of President Franklin Roosevelt. "He was like a daddy to me," said Johnson.

Encouraged by FDR

Roosevelt encouraged the ambitious Texan to try for the Senate in a special 1941 election to fill an unexpired term. Johnson lost by a slim margin, but won the seat in 1948 by an even slimmer one—87 votes.

He once said he seldom thought of politics "more than 18 hours a day," and many still recall his terse explanation of why he agreed to run for the vice presidency: "I want to serve and to serve well," he said. "I will leave it to my fellow Democrats, my fellow Americans, to determine what will be the title on my door."

GOP Candidates

from 96 of the 97 districts by 1:15 a. m. today.

Ike Won by 29,713

The Republican pluralities this year were substantially less than they were during the last Presidential race in 1956 when they averaged more than 20,000—with Eisenhower taking the county by the amazing plurality of 29,713 votes. In 1952 Eisenhower took the county by a plurality of approximately 20,000 votes.

Sen. Bush said this morning that he was very pleased with the returns, especially those in his home county of Delaware where he received the "best" support he ever got. He polled 16,031 to McCardle's 5,280 in Delaware County.

In his home city of Walton he received 2,353 votes to 422 for his opponent.

He reportedly had pluralities of approximately 4,000 in Greene County and 3,000 in Sullivan County, although these figures are rough estimates. No final totals were immediately available today.

Closer in City

The races were much closer in the city of Kingston than in the county outside, with Vidal receiving a slight edge. James T. McCardle also received a plurality in the city of Kingston. The rock-ribbed Republican areas outside the city, however, returned substantial pluralities to the Republican slate.

The closest a Democratic candidate for President has come to taking Ulster County was in 1932 when Alfred E. Smith lost to Hoover by only 3,000 votes.

In 1936 Landon took Ulster County, defeating Roosevelt by 24,680 to 18,650.

In 1940 Willkie won over Roosevelt in the county, receiving a total of 27,180 votes to 18,333 to his opponent.

In 1944 Dewey received 26,700 votes to 17,000 for Roosevelt.

In 1948 Dewey won handsomely from Truman in Ulster County, polling a whopping 29,000 votes to 14,000 for his opponent.

A total of 74,288 persons were registered to vote in Ulster County. Approximately 60,000 cast their ballots.

REPUBLICANS USE COMPUTER TO FIND OUT — Looking over city election returns as they are computed by an IBM tabulating machine are Attorney John B. Sterley, Republican city chairman; Bernhardt S. Kramer, vice chairman and Allan Coles, supervisor of machine tabulating for Ulster County. Use of the machine facilitated speedy tabulation of returns. (Freeman photo)

Lions Club Hears Election Forecast

The Kingston Lions listened to predictions by local elements of both major political parties following Tuesday's luncheon meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The present Republican city chairman and former surrogate judge, John B. Sterley introduced the Republican speaker, Ulster County Republican Committee Chairman, Assemblyman Kenneh L. Wilson.

In his opening remarks, the speaker paid tribute to the Ulster County Democratic Committee chairman, Attorney William Kelly. Assemblyman Wilson felt confident of an overall Republican victory. He said that he expected Gore Vidal to run well and lead the Democratic ticket in this area and that Lawrence D. Craft would get the most votes for the Republicans on the local level. He predicted a victory for Vice President Nixon in a close election, saying that Nixon would get between 280 and 300 electoral votes without including New York State.

A Lion member, Walter Donnaruma introduced the Democratic speaker and the Democratic candidate for assembly, Attorney Norman Kellar.

Mr. Kellar, secretary of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, said that he stood firmly in back of the prediction of the Democratic committee chairman which was made during the national Democratic convention. Senator Kennedy would win the presidential election in 40 states.

The Democratic speaker also said that locally the Democratic ticket would cut deeply into the normal heavy Republican vote and that some local Democratic victories were expected.

Help of Teeners Sought for Yule Parade Nov. 19

Kingston youth organization will enroll close to 100 teenagers to assist in staging the Fairy Tale Christmas parade here on Saturday morning, Nov. 19.

The parade is being sponsored by the Central, Rondout and Uptown Businessmen Associations, the City of Kingston and the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

A spokesman for the parade committee said that this number of young people is needed to handle the 32 huge inflated figures of well-known fairy tale characters.

Agencies cooperating in this community effort are the Boy's Club, Boy Scouts, the YMCA and the YWCA.

Off-duty members of Kingston's Uniformed Firemen's Associations have volunteered to supervise various units of the parade, which starts from the Dietz Memorial Stadium at 9:30 a. m., Saturday, Nov. 19 and terminates in the Rondout area at the corner of the Strand and Hasbrouck Avenue.

State Vote Sidelights

NEW YORK (AP) — Election-night crowds in Times Square had all but disappeared, until the 1960 election.

Veteran policemen said the largest crowd in years turned out Tuesday night despite 40-degree temperatures and biting winds. About 2,000 watched results flashed from electric signs.

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—John F. Kennedy is the first Democrat in presidential election history to capture this Upstate city.

Unofficial returns gave him 4,184 votes to Richard M. Nixon's 3,944.

WAVERLY, N.Y. (AP) — "I know, I know." With that remark, 99-year-old Mrs. Gertrude Mattoon brushed away attempts to explain voting procedures to her.

She said as she cast her ballot Tuesday, that she had voted in every presidential election since women were given the franchise in 1920.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Fantastic," "Wonderful," said the visiting Swedish princesses, 23-year-old Birgitta and 22-year-old Desiree, after inspecting a polling place in Manhattan Tuesday.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A. Russell Tomkinson, 39, left a hospital bed Tuesday to go to the polls.

Suffering a broken leg and knee, he spent the morning practicing walking on crutches. He was driven to the polls, then returned to the hospital, where he must spend another week.

Why We Say--

FROST: When we say that someone has "cold feet" we mean that they are afraid of something. The expression started with soldiers in the 19th century. One of the chief ailments in battle was frozen feet . . . but it was also said that some soldiers feigned this trouble to avoid battle.

Local Mushroom Industry Topic At Monday Club

The Saugerties Monday Club held its regular meeting, Nov. 7, at the home of Mrs. Henry Knaust, West Camp. The president, Mrs. Henry Hartley, conducted the regular business meeting.

The program on the Mushroom Industry, was one of a series being given on Local Industries, and was presented by Mrs. Henry Knaust and Mrs. Julius Gentalen, of Catskill. Mrs. Gentalen is the technician in charge of the Knaust Laboratory and the Spawn Plant in Catskill.

A brief resume was given covering the 40 years of this local industry, describing some of the early difficulties and challenges; many of which resulted in the changes and progress which have continued through the years. Mrs. Gentalen presented an interesting and informative display describing the culture of mushrooms from the initial stages through the completed product. This includes both canned mushrooms and the newest development the tablet "Muscatone" which contains enzimes and amino acids producing a marked improvement in many symptoms, and in the general health and good physical condition.

Mrs. Gentalen has given this lecture to several different organizations, and has presented it also at the library in Catskill. Her charm and vivacity have brought her many friends in this country to which she and her husband and two sons came from Estonia, 11 years ago. Mr. Gentalen is a very capable artist, and has become well known not only in this locality, but in New York and in the West, where he has had several exhibitions of his work.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 14, at the home of Mrs. Joseph Frankel, Washington Avenue, Saugerties.

Legion Auxiliary Collects Yule Gifts

The Lamouree-Hackett American Legion Auxiliary will again send gifts to the Veterans Administration Hospital, Albany, at Christmas time. It is the custom of all auxiliary units in the state to maintain the gift shops in all veterans hospitals throughout the state, which enables the confined veteran to select gifts, and send them free of charge to members of their families.

Members and friends of the Legion who would like to contribute may leave gifts at the home of Mrs. Richard Cauley, Jane Street, or call Mrs. William Schaffer or Mrs. Catherine Van Gaasbeek.

The gifts should be suitable for a wife, mother, father, sister or brother of a veteran. Christmas cards are also needed for this project. All gifts should be in the hands of the Auxiliary by Nov. 25.

Girl Scout Notes

Girl Scout Troop 66 of Mt. Marion played host to their little sisters, Brownie Troop 45, at the meeting last Thursday. In keeping with their theme for the Juliette Low Centennial Year, a dramatic choral reading of an original poem by their founder was presented by the Intermediate Scouts.

During the evening the two groups joined in musical games and singing, which ended with the Scout Friendship circle and the Girl Scout Prayer. Refreshments were served by the host troop.

Events Scheduled

The Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday 8 p. m. at Schoentag's Colonial Tavern. Election of officers for the coming year will be the main topic of business, according to Alfred R. MacMullen, secretary.

The Ladies Aid Circle of the Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion, will hold a covered dish supper and Christmas bazaar in the church hall Saturday, Nov. 26, starting at 5 p. m. Handmade fancy articles, aprons and rag rugs suitable for Christmas gifts will be on sale.

Problems of Bigness

TORRINGTON, Wyo. (AP) — Torrington residents reached their goal, according to the recent census. They passed the 5,000 mark in population. Then came the sad news. Under Wyoming law, the town will have to adopt a budget plan used by cities, establish new city government departments and pay higher fire insurance premiums until a paid fire department is established.

Ventriloquism 'Exposed'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — There is no such thing as "throwing your voice," says nightclub ventriloquist Peter Rich. "It's 90 per cent acting and 10 per cent ventriloquism," he adds. "I just talk without moving my lips and attract people's attention to my dummy." Rich said anyone can learn the trick by practicing 10 minutes a day.

Here's How Mrs. 'Typical' Manages Family Funds

How does Mrs. 'Typical American Homemaker" handle her pocketbook problems?

This being the age of computers, Mrs. "Typical" popped out of a survey done for Sales Management Magazine by National Opinion Survey, Inc.

She is Mrs. John Dudra, mother of three and a resident of Pana, Ill. (pop. 6,178). Mr. Dudra is an ex-professional ball player, now an oil refinery mechanic.

Mrs. Dudra doesn't budget. She admits she is having a tough time saving. When she manages to salt a few dollars away, they go into the company credit union to earn 3½ per cent.

The Dudra family has a checking account too and she is the bookkeeper. What other kind of records does she keep?

"I keep receipts just to be able to remember what we paid for things or in case anything goes wrong with a purchase. We have few deductions that we can take on our income tax.

"We pay bills before we put money into savings. We decide how much we want to spend for what. After that there are not too many dollars left to worry about."

Does she use credit? "Without it we couldn't have bought our new refrigerator."

Credit for teen-agers? "Gracious, no!" she exclaimed. Her 14-year-old gets a $1.25 weekly allowance to do with as she chooses.

Insurance? With Confidence Mrs. "Typical" reported that her husband is paying on a 20 payment life policy. The family's health insurance comes from his employer who also will pay him a pension when he retires.

"No, I don't know the details of the pension plan although I read it once," Mrs. Dudra confessed, "but we don't worry too much about the future. We haven't given any real thought to college for the children so, of course we haven't started saving for it."

Mrs. "Typical" has no plans for going back to work when her children are older. Before she married she was a legal stenographer. She is dead set against "baby sitters rearing my children" and believes that a woman's place is in the home. (Mr. Dudra was baby-sitting while she was feted in Manhattan.)

Are the Dudra's share owners? "I've read about owning stocks," she said, "but I've read that you should not buy stocks unless you are prepared to do without the money you invest. We can't afford anything like that."

Has she any hobbies? With a house, a garden and three children to watch she finds time only for the P-TA, for recruiting blood bank donors and for soliciting for the Red Cross and Community Chest.

Practical way to give your new home that smart "low-look"—floors of modern concrete!

Have you noticed? Many of today's smartest new homes are long and low. Built close to the ground, they look better, blend better with the landscape.

Architects achieve this stylish, ground-hugging appearance by designing homes around floors of modern concrete. Old-fashioned under-the-floor air vents and doorsteps are no longer needed.

Indoor-outdoor living is easier, too. Areas merge handsomely with floors on one level. In many cases, the patio simply becomes a spacious extension of the living room.

And concrete takes any kind of floor covering. As is, it's ready for throw rugs or carpeting—or a no-squeak base for wood, tile or linoleum. Custom-styled? You can paint, stain or score it. Terrazzo topping is another beautiful idea—and reasonably priced, too.

NOTE FOR PRACTICAL PEOPLE: Concrete is one building material you can depend on to give good service, last a lifetime. Upkeep is simplicity itself—concrete is so easy to clean.

Ask your architect or builder about the advantages of a modern concrete floor. Write for free booklet, "You Get More Value With A Concrete Floor."

National DAR Chairman Speaks in Kingston; Members Will Donate Another Bookshelf

Wiltwyck Chapter, DAR, heard Mrs. Kenneth G. Maybe of Syracuse, national chairman of American History Month, and State Parliamentarian, who was guest speaker at a supper-meeting of the afternoon and evening groups on Thursday evening.

Supper was served by candlelight in the Assembly Room at the Chapter House, which was colorfully decorated with autumn flowers and foliage.

There was a brief business meeting and discussions relative to the current projects being undertaken. There will be a dessert card party on November 9, proceeds of which will be used to provide a scholarship for 11-year-old John Henry Hopkins at Tamassee DAR school in South Carolina, as well as clothing and Christmas gifts for him.

Another project for this fall is the planting of some 100 tulip bulbs on the Chapter property.

The Chapter Historian, Mrs. R. R. Empringham, reminded members about the books and funds being collected for the bookshelf the Chapter is sponsoring at School No. 2.

Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller, national defense chairman, gave a brief talk on the subject, again stressing the need for citizens to write to their representatives in the government when they are interested in action to be taken upon certain resolutions.

Mrs. Walter T. Tremper, resolution chairman, read a tribute in memory of Mrs. Delta Boice Fromer.

Mrs. William Ochs then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Maybe, who opened her talk by stressing that Americans must take a part in the government of this country by voting.

Mrs. Maybe's foreword about history was that we should make American history live for our children, so our great historical heritage may be passed on to those who come hereafter. She gave a brief outline of what is being accomplished toward getting a resolution passed in Congress designating February as American History Month. This idea originated at a DAR Continental Congress and already the majority of states issue proclamations each year and pay honor to those great men who did so much to make America a great nation. She noted that the school essay contest for the sixth, seventh and eighth grade levels, conducted by the DAR has aroused much interest and has encouraged young students to do research work on the subjects. This year the subject is "Historical Waterways."

The speaker cited instances of the part American women have played in the history of our country, and said that the women of today have an opportunity to take just as important a part in the role of citizens by making the general public more aware of the country in which we live and the heritage we have.

Mrs. Hollis M. Burhans and Mrs. Otto A. Trnka, co-chairmen, assisted by the Mmes. Albert E. Bushnell, Daniel S. Barnhart, R. R. Empringham, John G. Garon, Charles A. Reis, Howard R. St. John, Burton L. Haver, Edwin T. Strong, and George Swart, were hostesses for the evening.

ASKING TO BRING EXTRA GUEST

Question: A friend invited my husband and me to a party at her house. At the last minute my brother and sister-in-law arrived from out of town. I telephoned this friend who was giving the party and explained the situation and asked if we might bring them along. She hesitated a moment and then said, "all right" but I could tell from the tone of her voice that it was not "all right" and that she merely said it to be polite. Will you please tell me if I was wrong to call and ask if we might bring them along?

Answer: What you should have done was to call the hostess and say, "My brother and sister-in-law have just arrived from out of town and as we cannot leave them alone we will not be able to come to your party." Then if she had room for them she could invite them to come with you. But to call and ask point blank if you may bring extra guests to her party does put the hostess on the spot.

Question: My sister and I are giving a Bon Voyage party together for a girl friend of ours who is leaving soon for an extended trip abroad. I would like to invite several of my own personal friends to this party but my sister tells me that I cannot do this and that only the friends of the guest of honor should be invited.

Answer: It will be better to follow your sister's advice and invite only friends of the guest of honor. To invite people she does not know to come in to say "good-bye" to her does not make much sense.

Question: Will you please tell me if it is wrong to ask a bride-to-be where she and the bridegroom are going on their honeymoon? I have been told that it is.

Answer: Where a bride and groom are going on their honeymoon is their own secret, and it would be tactless to ask to share it.

Double Ring Wedding in Saugerties Nov. 5 For Gaetana Pesce and Joseph Louis Font

SAUGERTIES—St. Mary's of the Snow Church of Saugerties was the scene of the double ring ceremony on Saturday, Nov. 5, for Miss Gaetana Catherine Pesce and Joseph Louis Font. The Rev. Joseph Hamilton, officiated before a Nuptial Mass. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Pesce of Katsbaan. She was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of Miramist taffeta, styled with a basque bodice, long tapered sleeves and a scooped neckline. The bouffant skirt swept back into a chapel length circular train while the bodice and skirt featured appliques of embroidered Alencon lace. The wide French illusion veil was shirred to a crown of forget-me-nots. She carried a prayer book with a white orchid, stephanotis, satin streamers and an iridescent crystal Rosary.

Serving as matron of honor was her cousin, Mrs. George Sowles of Katsbaan. Her gown was jewel pink fashioned with a velveteen bodice and deep hemmed waltz length organza skirt over taffeta. Her matching princess crown held a flirtation veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink and white carnations with silver trim and ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Miss Veronica Porto of Glasco, Miss Dorothy Flicker of Malden on Hudson, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Lois DeBernardo, as junior bridesmaid. All were attired in gowns identical to that of the matron of honor's. They carried deep pink carnations with white lace trim and white ribbons.

Mr. Font, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew DeBernardo of Katsbaan, had Leonard Paul Johnke of Hampton, Conn. as his best man. Serving as ushers were his brother, Frank DeBernardo of Katsbaan and the bride's cousin, Joseph Pesce of Katsbaan.

Mrs. Aleksander Narel was organist and soloist for the ceremony. Selections included "Ave Maria" and "On This Day."

The church was decorated with beauty baskets of pink and white gladioli. The bride and bridegroom dedicated an arm bouquet of red rosoes to the Blessed Mother. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride's mother was attired in a champagne outfit with brown accessories, and carried yellow cymbidiums with gold trimming. The bridegroom's mother wore emerald green chfifon with gold accessories and carried a purse corsage of green cymbidiums.

A reception was given at the Capri in Port Ewen for approximately 175 guests.

For her wedding trip to New York City and Miami, Fla., the bride wore a beige brocade sheath with matching jacket, brown accessories, and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Font is a 1960 graduate of Saugerties High School and is now employed by the Victory Market in Saugerties. The bridegroom attended St. Aloysius High School and served five years with the U.S. Marines.

Marionette Show At Lake Katrine School Thursday

The popular Herrick Marionettes will present a puppet show at the Lake Katrine School under the sponsorship of cub Scout Pack 10 at 7 p. m. this Thursday. The story of "The Three Wishes" will be given.

Everyone has wished during his lifetime and if mere wishing could make things so, whatever would our world be like? The story of the "The Three Wishes" gives an inkling of what happens when such powers are afoot. It is a story of subtle humor and fun for all ages. A highlight of the performance will be the unusual scene with the wishing well, fairy, elf, and Timothy the frog, all done in spectacular ultra violet light.

Noted for their expert craftsmanship in the field of puppetry, Janet and Ronald Herrick have been giving puppet shows for the past 15 years for children and adults alike, traveling from Maine to Florida. Mr. Herrick, who taught puppetry at the famous Angelo Patri School in New York City has built the lifelike puppets that appear in the show, painted the scenery, built the props to scale, and designed the artistic stage and lighting effects.

Mrs. Herrick spent many hours in research before costuming the cast. It is she who writes the scripts for the many stories in their repertoire. Together the Herricks present Puppetry at its finest.

The Herrick Marionettes have appeared before many clubs and schools throughout the East, including the Hotel Astor, St. Moritz and the Synod House of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City.

School Concerts Sponsored by Junior League of Kingston Commence Thursday

The Brass Quartet composed of trumpet, French horn, tenor trombone and brass horn form the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra will open their first series of in-school concerts this week. The Junior League of Kingston has donated $2,450 for the purpose of these concerts. The second series will be given in the spring.

The money for these concerts has been raised by the League through sales in the Junior League Exchange. All money raised by the League goes into the Community Trust Fund and is then donated to a worthwhile community project. Claude Monteux, director of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra is a man with a broad musical background. He has appeared internationally as a flute soloist and a conductor.

The purpose of these in-school concerts is "to awaken the interest of children in taking up a musical instrument and to give them an opportunity to appreciate good music" according to Mr. Monteux.

The orchestra is composed of professional musicians but they tailor their music for children and use an informal and instructional approach. The musicians explain the use of their instruments and the simple musical theory to the children during the program.

It has been most gratifying in the past to see the children receive the orchestra with great enthusiasm. It is the hope of the Junior League of Kingston that these concerts will inspire many children to play an instrument and for all to appreciate good music.

The schedule will be as follows:

Thursday—Lake Katrine, 9:30 a. m. School No. 2 at 11 a. m. George Washington School, 1 p. m.

Monday, Nov. 21—School No. 5 at 9:30 a. m. School No. 8 at 11 a. m. and Tillson School at 1 p. m.

Monday, Nov. 28—School No. 6 at 9:30 a. m.; and 10:30 a. m. and School No. 7 at 1 p. m.

Thursday, Dec. 1—School No. 3 at 9:30 a. m. and Hurley at 11 a. m.

Friday, Dec. 2 — Chambers School at 9:30 a. m.; School No. 4 at 10:45 a. m.; and Port Ewen at 1:15 p. m.

KILLERS OF CHILDREN
Diphtheria . . . mastoiditis . . . scarlet fever . . . pneumonia! These were some of the big diseases — the big killers of children — a quarter-century ago. But today, we rarely hear of anyone dying from one of these diseases. The explanation? These diseases have been conquered by new drugs — drugs that were unknown 25 years ago — but are now found in every drug store.

Late Fall English Picnic Is Elegant Fun—Rawther

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise
Food & Markets Editor

The British have fun out of doors. Until the weather becomes really cold, they often motor out into the countryside for gay picnics. Recently some English friends of ours living in Connecticut took us on an elegant and typically English picnic in their chic English car. Everything was equally British—from the plaid Scottish car rug to the potted shrimp and the English pork pie. It was all very, very, and we really enjoyed ourselves.

Our friends told us it is not uncommon to go down from London in the late afternoon to one of the old estates to hear a concert or an opera, and to eat "al fresco." They settle on the green, the men in black tie and women in evening dress, and enjoy the soft autumn air as they eat their picnic.

Because the authentic English pork pie takes half a day or longer, we adapted it to the quicker American way. It looks and tastes just as delicious, we think.

English Pork Pie
(American Version)

Place 1½ pounds lean, boneless pork, cut in cubes, in 2 cups water; add 1 onion and 2 chicken bouillon cubes. Simmer, covered, 30 minutes. Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup water, add strained hot pork stock and stir to dissolve. Meantime, make crust by using 2 packages pie crust mix. Set aside ¼ of dough for upper crust. Roll out remaining dough, shape to fit round deep casserole. Place meat in crust along with ½ cup stock. Cut large round hole in center of rolled upper crust. fit over top of casserole, carefully sealing dough around edges. Bake in 350 degree F. oven for 2 hours; during first hour, lay piece of waxed paper over top crust to prevent browning too quickly. Remove waxed paper, brush crust with beaten egg. Fifteen minutes before removing pie from oven, make gravy of remaining stock, blending 2 tablespoons of butter with 2 tablespoons flour. Slowly stir in 1½ cups stock. Cook until thickened and smooth. Pour into hole in upper crust. Serve hot or cold.

COLORFUL fall countryside, a shady spot and good food to hand are vital ingredients in typical English picnic.

TOMORROW'S ENGLISH PICNIC SUPPER: Potted shrimp, cucumber and watercress sandwiches on thin slices of buttered white bread; English pork pie, white grapes or apple tart, Stilton cheese, cheese biscuits, white wine, coffee, tea, milk.

Memorable Birthday

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) — Young Margaret Rowell of Methuen won't forget her 12th birthday party. It was at Lawrenec General Hospital, and she didn't even get a piece of the birthday cake. Margaret was thrown from her bicycle when a piece of wood got tangled in the spokes. X-rays indicated a broken jaw, so Margaret went on a liquid diet. She sipped chocolate milk while guests ate the cake.

Squash, Pumpkin, Sweet Potatoes

Three native American vegetables—winter squash, pumpkin, and sweet potatoes— are in season and shoppers will find them on display at produce counters. Squash, pumpkin, and sweet potatoes are symbolic of the harvest season not only because of their native origin but also because their high coloring blends well with autumn. Though pumpkin is used less than in former years, pumpkin pie is a uniquely American dessert.

Squash, pumpkin, and sweet potatoes are usually inexpensive throughout the year but particularly so at the harvest season—a time when prices usually decline.

To check cost per serving with prices in your area, count on two servings per pound for squash and pumpkin and three servings per pound for sweet potatoes. Allow about one pound of fresh squash or pumpkin for every cup of cooked, mashed squash.

Winter squash comes to market in many colors, sizes and shapes. Leading types of fresh market squash include:

Acorn with a distinctive shape similar to the nut of the same name. It has a hard shell with ridges. The Acorn is usually dark green. Small-sized, it usually serves two.

Butternut — shaped like an elongated bell or gourd. It has a small thin light tan skin. Butternuts have a small seed cavity and are free from stringiness.

Buttercup—resembling a turban, is dark green in color with a fairly smooth skin. The flesh has a thick texture with a nutty flavor.

Hubbards—include a family of large heavy squashes with thick hard skins, warty surfaces, and curved necks.

Vitamin A is present in generous amounts in squash, pumpkin, and sweet potatoes.

When buying sweet potaties, select the potato size according to intended use. Small or medium-sized potatoes make good individual servings when baked. For other uses where peeling and cutting are required, large potatoes may be preferred, as they save time and waste.

At the Markets

Traditionally, autumn is the season for ducks. Today's marketing techniques make them available the year around, but fall weather still turns appetites to ducks. This fall generous supplies are available at markets.

Prices for ducks usually are highest in summer and go off in the fall of the year. This year has been no exception as prices have declined in recent weeks.

Most of the ducks found in today's markets are ready-to-cook. They have been processed and flash frozen under federal inspection. When you buy-ready-to-cook ducks, allow 1 pound for each serving. Most ducks now on the markets weigh 4 to 5½ pounds, so a single bird is sufficient for a family of 4 to 5 persons.

Recognize high quality duck by the following signs:

Well developed, moderately long, and broad breast.

Well covered flesh throughout the entire length of the bird.

Free from pinfeathers.

A clean, unbruised, and unbroken skin that is free from freezer burn. The wrapper should be undamaged.

You may want to try this method of cutting up cooked duck:

Remove legs and wings with a sharp knife.

Starting at the neck, insert poultry shears, clip completely around the bird, separating the back from the breast.

Then clip across breast and back, dividing them into the desired number of pieces.

Stuffings and garnishes abound for duck, but two fruits now seasonally plentiful, combine especially well with duck. Add apple pieces or cranberries to the stuffing before cooking duck. If the bird is cooked unstuffed, use a garnish or sauce made with apples and cranberries.

Initial Reports Indicate Scout Drive Doing Well

The 1960 Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, fund drive for 1961 operating funds is moving along in high gear, according to Campaign Chairman Gifford Beal, of Kingston.

The council leadership gifts committee, under the leadership of General Sherman Hasbrouck, of Stone Ridge, has set the pace for the entire campaign by reporting an initial figure of $2,118 in cash and pledges. This represents a "new high" for this phase of the campaign, Beal said.

Encouraging initial reports in the general campaign have been received from West Hurley, Athens, Plattekill, Catskill, Milton, Coxsackie, Wawarsing, Cairo and Jewett, said Chairman Beal. From all inidications to date, the contributions from these towns will set a new high in local Boy Scout campaigning.

In a special bulletin recently sent to all town campaign chairmen, Beal "urged all campaigners to see their prospects and to turn in their reports immediately to their town audit chairman."

He went on to reemphasize the need for a successful campaign for next year's operating expenses to offset a potential $7,000, 1960 deficit and to provide the essential executive, leadership, facility and training services for the more than 3,000 scouts in the Rip Van Winkle Council.

This year's goal in the fund drive in the 32 Ulster-Greene towns is approximately $30,000 outside the Kingston area. In the Kingston area the council is a member of the Kingston Area Community Chest.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Paramount's long breath-holding is over. The lambs are back in the fold.

Last April, the studio took a large corporate chance. The actors' strike had interrupted filming of "The Pleasure of His Company." The actors trooped back to work after five weeks, but producers William Perlberg and George Seaton had commitments with William Holden and European studios to make another film, "Counterfeit Traitor."

What to do? The movie minds for "Traitor." So the cast of the comedy was told bye-bye until November with instructions not to get fat or incapacitated.

The eight-month hiatus is over and "Pleasure" is shooting again. Happily for all, the performers have returned in virtually the same condition and can pick up where they left off with 25 per cent of the film remaining to be shot. I asked each what happened in the interim.

"Well, I did a TV special," said Fred Astaire. "Takes me a bit of time, you know. No other movies for me. I'm a bit of a problem to cast. I can't do every kind of role, and, as for musicals, there simply aren't any."

"I did a TV special, too," said Debbie Reynolds. "I took a lot of time with it, as Fred does. The critics hated the show, but it got the best rating of the year, so I should worry."

She didn't get married, as some had predicted. The cast member whose marital status did change was Gary Merrill, who was divorced by Bette Davis.

Lilli Palmer also worked in Europe as Holden's co-star in 'Counterfeit Traitor." As for Tab Hunter, he was doing a TV series called the Tab Hunter show.

That leaves Charles Ruggles, who was the gravest cause for concern when the film was postponed. "After all, Charlie is 68, people said, "and not getting any younger."

So what did "old Charlie" do? Two movies, two TV shows and two plays in summer stock! And he's back fit as a fiddle.

STAGE TALK—Helen Hayes holds Maurice Evans' mascot doll backstage as she felicitates him after Broadway opening of the musical, "Tenderloin," in which he stars.

Music vs. JD

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP) —Willie Lamb, 60, has his own suggestion for keeping boys out of trouble with the law. Get them interested in bandwork, says Lamb, bandmaster of the Prince Albert City Band for the last 25 years. "I have always said that the boy who plays an instrument in a band will never get into trouble with the law. I've found it that way ever since I've been connected with music. I believe that if every boy could study music there would be fewer criminals in the world today."

WALLKILL NEWS

Legion Auxiliary Notes

WALLKILL—The Third District Fall Conference of the American Legion Auxiliary was held Saturday, Nov. 5, at the Hapton Hotel, Albany.

Mrs. George Flockhart, Mrs. Edna Roach, Mrs. Helen Backofen, and Mrs. Theoretta Totman of Rose Sheeley Post Unit attended. Mrs. Michael Boland, department rehabilitation chairman stressed the importance of keeping in contact with hospitalized veterans and their families. She explained how the mandatory tax of 40 cents per member was used at Christmas so that each hospitalized veteran received $1. Last year, 21,000 veterans received the gift.

Ulster County has been assigned again this year to Albany Veterans Administration Hospital, and there are about 1000 veterans hospitalized in Albany at all times, which makes the Christmas gift shop a large undertaking. Each veteran is allowed to select free gifts to send home to their families. The gifts are new and are donated by members of the various units and persons who wish to donate from the communities. All gifts for the shop must be at the hospital by November 25. Any person wishing to give to the shop may do so by contacting Mrs. Flockhart, rehabilitation chairman or any auxiliary member.

Mrs. Robert Johnson, department child welfare chairman discussed the work of her committee. Mrs. Charles Wright, department membership chairman spoke on the importance of keeping members and contacting all persons who are eligible to join the Auxiliary.

Reward for Drink

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Here's one drunk driver who was rewarded instead of warded. Harold Stainer, a reporter, got drunk a year ago at the expense of the State of Illinois to demonstrate the effects of drinking on driving an automobile. He guzzled six 12-ounce cans of beer in 40 minutes. Stainer won $30 in a newspaper writing contest for his story. He also shared a $100 prize with cameraman Ed Wotjas from the National Foundation for Highway Safety, Inc.

Port Freshmen Halt KHS Win String, 19-6

Locals Lost First Game in Three Years

All good things must come to an end and that's what happened to the excellent football record compiled the past three seasons by the Kingston High frosh.

Monday at Dietz Stadium, Port Jervis scored in each of the first three quarters and stopped the Maroon eleven, 19-6. It was the first loss for a freshman squad since 1958 when Poughkeepsie did the trick. The locals had gone through 13 games without losing.

Earl Butler was the villain. He tallied in the first quarter from the 12 to climax a 60 yard drive. Then just before halftime, he intercepted a pass and rambled 40 yards to a score. The swift halfback closed his club's scoring in the third quarter with a drive from the three.

Kingston marched 70 yards in the final period with fullback Ted Stroter taking it in from the 10. The only other threat was in the opening few moments of the contest when Jack Gilligan's charges moved to the PJ 10. However, the drive stalled and so did the unbeaten string.

The lineups:

Pos.	Kingston	Port Jervis
LE	Murray	Roberts
LT	Platt	Seeber
LG	Handley	McAndrew
C	Rhymer	Hogan
RG	Aurringer	Casterline

Scoring by quarters:

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

With the All Star match game eliminations scheduled in Kingston Sunday, attention is focused on revival of interest in the point system for individual and team competition. The Petersen point system, based on games won and pins knocked down, will decide the area championship.

The argument of points vs. games won-and-lost is as old as bowling itself. More and more leagues seem to be adopting the point system to determine championships. There is a certain added inducement in the point system, since it permits a team gain a 2-2 tie even though it loses in games, 2 to 1. But unless the teams are truly balanced in average, the point system is a pure farce.

The purists attack the Petersen and other point systems as contrary to the fundamental concept of the sport of tenpins. They conend that bowling is a game in which the man who knocks down the most pins should be the winner. The Petersen system is actually a combination of both, as it gives points for wins and also points for every 50 pins knocked down.

• Comparable to Golf:

Golf is similarly divided among the purists. The professional golfing claque adheres to medal play (lowest total of strokes). Medal play is too rugged for the average amateur player, so most amateur competitions are determined by match play. The fundamentalists are seldom swayed from rigid positions that golf was created as a game in which fewest strokes determined the winner and bowling is a sport where the man who knocks down the most pins is the champion.

There are many deviations from the rigid format. In Auburn, some leagues use a 9-point system in handicap league play: two points for each game won, two points for pin total and one point for high game in the match." Another variation is the combined Petersen team system of allotting one point for each game won and a point for every 250 pins knocked down. However in all point systems the true average is a must. Phony averages make a mockery of the whole system.

• The Distaff Department:

Evelyn Nitsch's first 600 series, triggered with a booming 245 and 199-176 for 620 grabbed the female spotlight since the last issue. . . . Terry Beckert dropped in as a substitute in the Mixed Foursome league and casually tossed games of 184-204-230 for 618. . . . Didn't count, of course. . . . KWBA, looking well ahead, launches its activities for the 1962 state tournament with a cocktail party at the Governor Clinton Sunday from 3 to 5 p. m. . . . Rose Nardi got into the upper bracket with 206-510 and Peggy McHugh rolled 207-543 in the Legion Mixer. . . . A couple of new first nighters: Elinor Naigles, 431 in the Matinee Club and Peg Rosinski 500 (on the nose). Two old pros—Tess Moss and Evelyn Dolson—rapped 554 and 548, respectively. . . . Cora Emerick's 202-503 on her 74th birthday created quite a stir and rightfully so. . . . National Notes: Mrs. Emma Phaler, WIBC secretary, advised that as of Nov. 1 better than 1,000 reservations are in for the WIBC championships which open April 6, 1961, at the fabulous new Northcrest Lanes in Fort Wayne, Indiana. Considered to be the largest and most modern bowling establishment in the state of Indiana, the Northcrest Lanes (opened on Oct. 8) houses 42 Brunswick lanes, a beautiful restaurant and cocktail lounge. Two of the nation's top bowlers, Marion Ladewig and Joe Joseph, were on hand to officially open the lanes. . . . Diana Phippin of San Mateo, Calif., has a 300 game to her credit this season. . . . Best women's triple is the 747 compiled by Lil De Aangelis of Passaic, N. J. . . . Shaw Lanes of Cleveland hold both team records with 1172 and 3187. . . . This is the same team that set two WIBC records last season as Freeway Washer and Stamping. Sophie Cetinsky posted 238-592, Venice Pelton 234-638, Rosa Calala 255-645, Marge Kelch 200-658 and Stevie Balogh, 245-654. . . . Whatever became of the weaker sex?

Quebec Within 2 Points of Lead

QUEBEC (AP) — The Quebec Aces pulled within two points of the first place Springfield Indians in the American Hockey League by beating the league leaders 3-2 Tuesday night.

A crowd of 7,907 saw Jackie LeClair slam home what proved to be the winning goal at 13:08 of the second period after Springfield had rallied to tie at 2-2.

It was the second time in three days that the Aces beat the first place Indians.

Danny Lewicki put the Aces out in front 2-0 in the first period with goals at 11:38 and 19:16. Art Stratton got one back for Springfield 38 seconds after the second period started.

Then Bill Sweeney tied the score at 8:47 to set the stage for LeClair's winning goal.

Ground Gaining Marks Below Other Seasons

With the 1960 major college football season heading into the homestretch, only two teams are even close to the total offense figure that has been standard for champions for nearly 20 years.

Latest figures from the NCAA Service Bureau show that for seven games New Mexico State has averaged 394.6 yards by running and passing. Memphis State 384.5 for eight game.

For the past 19 years, every total offense champion has averaged at least 400 yards a game.

In the same way, only New Mexico State, with 38.9 points a game, and Memphis State, with 31.1, are scoring above the 30-point average attained by every major college scoring champion since 1939.

Jumpers Title Taken by U. S.

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States International Jumping Team, which has been campaigning all over the world for months, turned a weary eye on Toronto today and the Royal Winter Fair Horse show next week.

"Our riders and horses are tired," said U.S. Coach Bert De Nemethy. "Considering this, I think we did very well in the National."

That they did—De Nemethy's lads — Hugh Wiley of Towsom, Md.; Frank Chapot of Wallpack, N.J., and George Morris of New Canaan, Conn., won the team championship going away in the 77th edition of the National Horse Show, which finished an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

Mexico, which couldn't win a jumping bean the first six days of the shown won the Prix de nations —probably the most important international event—Tuesday night.

Riviera Wonder, who won his fourth open jumper championship, was sold by Bernie Mann of Port Washington, N.Y., to Donald Shapiro of Old Brookville, N.Y.

Ohio State Is Picked Over Iowa

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Who says political forecasters are the only ones who have trouble with close November contests? In 56 college football decisions last week this corner sank to a 17-year low and was right only 32 times. That's an average of .507. The seasonal record now is 282-105—.730.

So starting on a new campaign:

Ohio State over Iowa: Hawkeyes have the support of their own fans plus the incentive of trying to give coach Evashevski a victory in his final home game. But Ohio State has Tom Matte and Bob Ferguson. They are more important. This one is on TV.

Minnesota over Purdue: The fictional Tom Brown went to Rugby and Oxford, but Purdue will become the eighth team this season to learn there is nothing fictional about the Tom Brown who anchors the Minnesota line.

Tennessee over Mississippi: The blue-plate special upset of the week. Tennessee's homecoming game.

Washington over California: The Huskies are headed for the Rose Bowl designation.

Duke over Wake Forest: If Duke wins, the Blue Devils are the Atlantic Coast Conference champs.

Navy over Virginia: The Cavaliers are the losingest team in college football. Joe Bellino adds another setback to their string.

Pittsburgh over Army: The Panthers probably are the best team in the East—and quite likely have been all season despite their 4-2-2 record.

Baylor over Southern California: They have a different type of sunshine in Texas.

Yale over Princeton: The championship of the venerable Big Three goes to the winner; probably the Ivy League title as well.

The motto "Hitch your wagon to a star" was originated by Ralph Waldo Emerson, noted poet.

Iowa Coach Gives Much Praise To College Football for 1960

By FOREST EVASHEVSKI
Iowa Football Coach
(Written for the Associated Press)

Don't believe some of the critics who are long on lungs and short on knowledge: College football in 1960 does not need to apologize for any aspect of it.

It is well-regulated and administered, a healthy rallying point for students, a tie between the alumni and their alma mater and a Saturday afternoon outlet for the public.

Because a young man is a good football player he can earn a scholarship which might not otherwise be available to him. Football, therefore, provides his means of securing a college education.

Eligibility regulations are a motivating factor in causing the player to improve his grade-point average. If he wants to play, of course, he must achieve the necessary standards and so he must exert himself mentally more than the average student.

Scientific Approach

The approach to the game is more thorough and scientific than ever before. Our coaching staffs are meticulous in preparation of the players. The game has become so complex that a player must keep mentally alert if he is to master the various situations.

Because of the impact of television and radio, more people than ever before are college football-conscious. Seeing it or listening to it, they become attracted and the next move is to be present at the game itself.

Equipment companies are contheir products. This serves to restantly making improvement in their products. This serves to reduce injuries.

Gophers Comeback Tribute To Coach Murray Warmath

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Murray Warmath is a large, robust Tennessean who was brought up to appreciate the value of a square meal and who therefore asks no one to dine on crow.

In Minnesota, where Warmath was subjected to outrageous personal abuses during three losing football seasons, the invitation is in order.

The coach wants none of it.

Today, with his Golden Gophers ranked first among the nation's college football teams, his demeanor hasn't changed.

"I didn't have any quarrels with anyone one two years ago and I don't have ny now," he said. "I'm just happy the state is united behind this fine football team of their's."

Warmath is a man of pride and oaken will who bears his torment inwardly and his triumphs the same way. His dignified restraint in the face of clamoring criticism brought neutralists to his side in the state's football feud two years ago.

Courageous Comeback

Murray Warmath's great achievement at Miuucsota does not actually show on the scoreboard, although it is reflected there.

Confronted with a virtual civil war among alumni, fans and school officials over his stewardship in 1958 and '59, he held his losing team's morale together and—at a time he was losing 15 to 18 games—built the foundation for his current Big Ten title contender.

Warmath would not express it this way publicly. He wants to impression of rejoicing in the discomfort of his would-be executioners.

"I don't want to reopen old sores," he said.

Wife and Seven Kiddies Spur Big Daddy Simas to Heights

ARCATA, Calif. (AP) — Manuel (Big Daddy) Simas, standout 264-pound tackle for the undefeated and untied Humboldt State College Lumberjacks, counts on a personal rooting section — his wife and seven children.

A pizza cook mill worker, bartender and one-time band leader, Big Daddy attends college at the age of 29 because he wants to become a teacher.

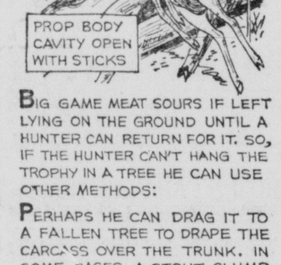

"A good education is the only security," declares Manuel, who daily must study, work and find time for football since Humboldt has no athletic scholarships. Currently he puts in 48-hour working week as a bartender.

It isn't easy to keep playing football. A few weeks ago the Lumberjacks were scheduled to play a Friday night game aganst the Cal Aggies at Davis.

Simas worked the night shift Thursday, slept three hours and drove his own car to catch up with the team at its luncheon stop. He played the game, and then drove back home to be readv for work at 10 a.m. after a round trip of about 600 miles.

He and his 105-pound wife, Jean provide a comfortable home for their brood. There are David Manuel, 11; Diana Marie, 10; Dennis Michael, 9; Donald Mark, 7; Douglas Matthew, 6; Daniel Marvin, 5; and Debra Marie, 3.

Simas has proved himself versatile. At school he majors in speech and foreign languages and for a living the 5-foot-11 gridder has been most everything from a cook to a bandleader, playing the saxophone and clarinet.

BIG GAME MEAT SOURS IF LEFT LYING ON THE GROUND UNTIL A HUNTER CAN RETURN FOR IT. SO, IF THE HUNTER CAN'T HANG THE TROPHY IN A TREE HE CAN USE OTHER METHODS:

PERHAPS HE CAN DRAG IT TO A FALLEN TREE TO DRAPE THE CARCASS OVER THE TRUNK. IN SOME CASES, A STOUT CLUMP OF BRUSH WILL SERVE.

OR, IF TROPHY CAN'T BE MOVED, THE HUNTER CAN WORK TREE LIMBS AND BRUSH UNDER IT USING A TREE LIMB AS A LEVER.

IT'S OKAY IF LOWER LEGS REST ON GROUND; JUST DISCARD 'EM.

ANDERSON, S. C. (AP) — Mrs. Mildred Taber confidently parked her car on East River Street one afternoon. She returned the next morning to find the car resting on concrete blocks. Thieves two rear tires—rims, hub caps and all.

Football Briefs

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Quarterback Dick Easterly and wingback Whitey Reiner, who have concentrated on defense, are expected to start in the backfield for Syracuse in Saturday's football game here with Colgate.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder, who has dropped guards Dick Feidler and Bruce Tarbox to the second unit, likely will start Dave Meggyesy and Jim Lamey as guards. John Brown is expected to start at tackle.

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—Colgate concentrated on defense Tuesday in a closed-door scrimmage in preparation for the Syracuse game Saturday.

The varsity worked against a special team equipped with Syracuse plays. The workout ended, long after dark, with offensive drill.

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — David Reese subbed for ailing Ken Kavensky at right halfback yesterday as Cornell scrimmaged lightly for Saturday's last home game, with Dartmouth.

Kavensky, however, hopes to overcome a virus illness by Saturday.

Plum Is Again No. 1 Passer

NEW YORK (AP)—Milt Plum of the Cleveland Browns threw his 99th pass of the season without an interception last Sunday and held his place as No. 1 passer in the National Football League. But teammate Jimmy Brown bounced back off the New York Giants defensive platoon too often and dropped from first to third in rushing.

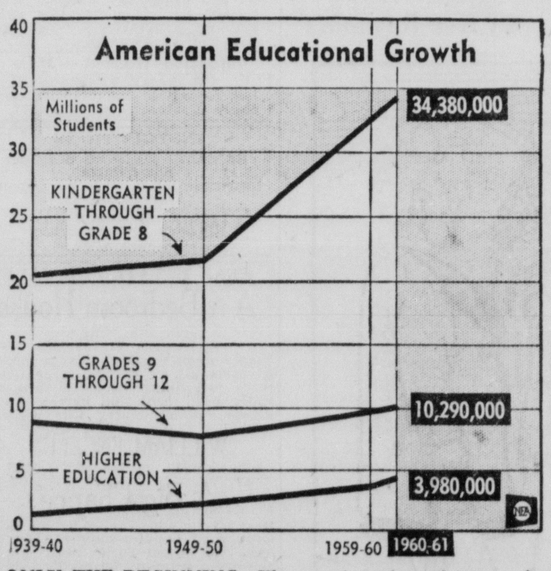

Plum, the Browns quarterback held the top spot for the third straight week. He has completed 68 out of 99 attempts, and has gained a total of 1,075 yards and passed for eight touchdowns.

When Cleveland was limited to six yards net on the ground by the Giants, Brown was passed by Jim Taylor of Green Bay and John Crow of St. Louis. Taylor has gained 540 yards on 128 attemps, Crow 524 yards and Brown 521. Brown has the best average of the three, 5.5 yards a carry.

ONLY THE BEGINNING—The great postwar increase in grade school enrollment is no news to Americans. Now, however, the World War II baby boom is beginning to be felt in high schools and colleges. Chart above, based on U.S. Office of Education estimates, reveals that the number of students in grade and junior high schools (both public and private) has increased by one million since the 1955-60 school year; high school enrollment is up 700,000; and college enrollment is up 230,000, a grand total of 48,650,000.

Haynes Magicians Feature Zany Brand of Basketball

When basketball fans hear the name Harlem Magicians they not only think of outstanding ability, but of the most colorful shooting aggregation ever assembled in the independent basketball ranks. For in addition to playing winning ball, these talented basketball stars engage in antics and pull crazy stunts that are a circus sideline.

The Magicians will play the Byrne Chevrolet All Stars in a benefit for the Glasco Athletic Club on Sunday, Nov. 20, at the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

The Magicians, who played to 750,000 fans in the U.S., Canada and Mexico last season, are court jesters of the highest calibre, with screwball antics, broad comedy bits and, of course, superb ball handling.

Marquis Haynes, the world's greatest dribbler and co-owner of this fabulous group has assembled basketball's greatest players who are also well versed in zany comedy routines which will keep the fans alive from start to finish.

Their roster reads like a Who's Who of Basketball, with 6-8 Jim Satterwhite of Tennessee State University; 6-7 Paul Martin of Atlanta, Ga.; 6-4 Sam Wheeler of St. Louis; 6-3 Josh Grider of Nashville, Tenn.; 6-8 Sid Dawson of Detroit.

There isn't much to be said about Haynes that hasn't been said many times before. He dazzles audiences and opponents, as he dribbles sitting, kneeling, lying and crawling on the floor. He is no clown though when it comes to pouring points through the hoop. He is among the most prolific point makers in professional ball.

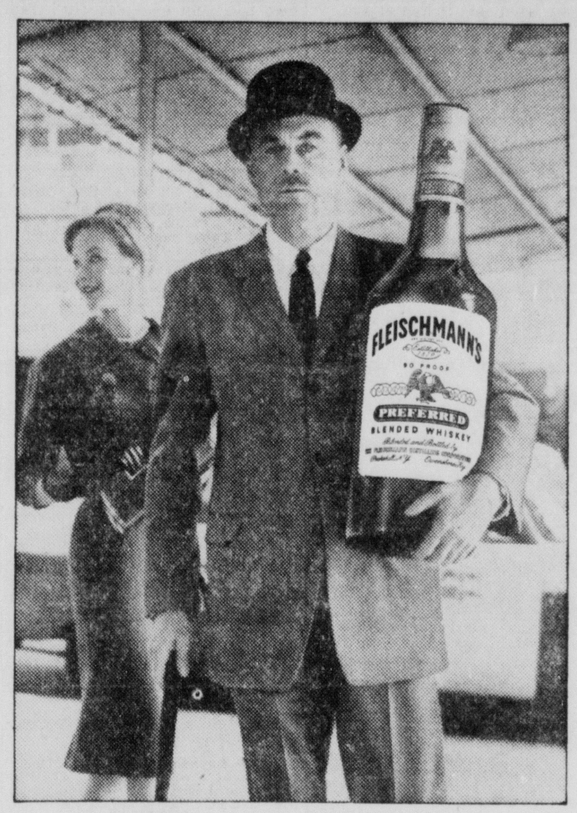

Did you ever see a basketball come alive? Well, you will when you see the fabulous Harlem Magicians in action at the municipal auditorium on Nov. 20.

matter of FACT

Reporters have described orphaned and abandoned children, desperate from hunger, pillaging like a swarm of locusts. These are not scenes from the distant past. As late as 1943 a million and a half people died of famine in Bengal.

Dems Hold . . .

Speaker Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, won re-election after a tussle with his Democratic foe, Edward F. Doolan. Martin trailed in the early returns.

Most of the overturns in the House were at the expense of freshman Democrats swept into office in the 1958 Democratic landslide from normally Republican areas.

Republican gains were chalked up in Connecticut, Vermont, Indiana, Maryland, Colorado, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maine. The GOP lost seats in New York, New Jersey and Idaho.

In New York, the Democrats picked up three House seats and for the first time in 10 years won control of the state's 43-member delegation.

Boggs Tops Frear

With 34 of the 100 Senate seats at stake in the election, Democrats had won 20 and Republicans 12 by the early morning hours. Only one incumbent, Sen. J. Allen Frear Jr., D-Del., had been toppled.

Frear's bid for a third term was turned back by Republican Gov. J. Caleb Boggs even as Kennedy captured Delaware's three electoral votes and the Democrats won the governorship.

The Republicans picked up a second Senate seat with the election of Rep. Keith Thomson to replace veteran Democratic Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, retiring at the age of 76. Thomson's Democratic opponent was Raymond B. Whitaker.

Mrs. Neuberger Wins

The election of Maurine B. Neuberger, an Oregon Democrat, will give the Senate two women members. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, a Republican, won overwhelming re-election in Maine.

Victor over former Republican Gov. Elmo Smith, Mrs. Neuberger will occupy a seat filled by her late husband. Mrs. Smith triumphed over Lucia M. Cormier in the only all-female race for the Senate.

The only Republican senator who did not seek re-election was Thomas Martin of Iowa. Republicans held on to his seat by electing State Sen. Jack Miller over Democratic Gov. Herschel Loveless.

In Rhode Island, Claiborne Pell, 41-year-old Democrat and Newport socialite, was elected to succeed Sen. Theodore Francis Green, retiring at the age of 93. Green is the oldest man ever to serve in the Senate.

Saltonstall, Case Victorious

Two Republican senators who won outstanding re-election victories were Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey. Both overcame Democratic tides that gave their states' electoral votes to Kennedy.

Among the Democratic senators who won re-election were Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, John Sparkman of Alabama, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, John L. McClellan of Arkansas, Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, James O. Eastland of Mississippi, Patrick V. McNamara of Michigan, Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, B. Everett Jordan of North Carolinan Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and E. L. Bartlett of Alaska.

Bridges, Cooper Win

In Missouri, Edward V. Long, a Democrat appointed to the Senate this fall after the death of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., won over his Republican opponent, Lon Hocker.

Republican senators who won re-election included Gordon Allott of Colorado, Henry C. Dworshak of Idaho, Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas, Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

Foster of Liberty apparently was re-elected to the Court of Appeals over Democrat Henry L. Ughetta of Brooklyn. Judge Stanley H. Fuld of New York City was re-elected to the same court without opposition.

Voters approved a $75-million bond issue to finance purchase of land to expand parks and recreation areas. A second proposition, to increase state subsidies for public housing and development projects by $5 million, also headed toward approval.

Heavy Upstate Draw

In the presidential voting, Kennedy drew heavy support from Upstate cities with large Roman Catholic populations. Kennedy was the first Catholic presidential candidate since New York's Gov. Alfred E. Smith lost in 1928 to Herbert Hoover.

The Democratic nominee also ran well Tuesday in areas with economic problems.

Kennedy took Erie County (Buffalo) by 276,688 to 211,201, Niagara County (Niagara Falls), 51,005 to 49,317, Oneida County (Utica) 63,371 to 59,199, and Clinton (Plattsburgh), 10,613 to 8,781.

He captured such cities as Batavia, which had never supported a Democratic presidential candidate, Rochester, Auburn and Elmira, all of which supported Eisenhower in 1956 and 1952.

S.I. For Nixon

The Democratic nominee won Brooklyn 646,173 votes to 327,014 and Bronx, Manhattan and Queens by large margins. He lost only one of the five New York City counties, Staten Island.

The religious issue worked in Kennedy's favor and Jewish and Negro voters rallied behind Kennedy. State party fights, if not forgotten, were submerged.

Democratic candidates unseated two Republican incumbents and won in the fifth district, which had been represented by Republican Albert H. Bosch.

Wainright Loses

Otis G. Pike, Democrat-Liberal, scored an upset victory in traditionally Republican Suffolk and Nassau counties when he rolled up a 9,000 vote lead over Stuyvesant Wainwright II, who was seeking his fifth term.

Carey Defeats Dorn

Hugh L. Carey turned out Rep. Francis E. Dorn, lone Republican congressman from Brooklyn, to shift another seat to the Democratic column.

Joseph P. Addabbo, Democrat-Liberal, narrowly defeated Republican George Archinal in Bosch's 4th Congressional District, Queens.

William Fitts Ryan, who defeated Rep. Ludwig Teller in a Democratic primary fight, won Teller's seat in the 20th District, Manhattan.

Ryan defeated Morris Aarons, Republican, and Teller, who ran as a Liberal, in the three-cornered battle.

Aarons had hoped that Teller would draw enough Democratic votes to enable him to defeat Ryan.

Carelton J. King, a former city judge in Saratoga Springs, won easily in the heavily Republican 31st district. He succeeds Dean P. Taylor of Troy, who retired. King was opposed by Louis B. Wolfe, who ran on the Democratic and Liberal tickets.

Two Republican representatives in the Lower Hudson Valley warded off challenges by literary Democrats and Rep. John Taber, dean of New York Congressmen, shook off a stiff battle from Assemblyman Francis Souhan of Seneca Falls.

Mrs. St. George Wins

Rep. Katharine St. George, who has represented Rockland, Orange, Sullivan and Delaware counties for 14 years, defeated television script writer James Truex.

Truex, son of actor Ernest Truex, had served as public relations director for the State Department of Public Works in the Democratic administration of former Gov. Averell W. Harriman.

J. Ernest Wharton, veteran Richmondville congressman, soundly trounced Gore Vidal, Pulitzer-Prize winning playwright.

20th Term for Taber

Taber who won his 20th term, polled 54,230 votes to Souhan's 49,747 in the sprawling, Republican 36th district.

Souhan, former member of the state athletic commission, had served one term in the Assembly before challenging Taber.

Pike, a bowtie-wearing justice of the peace, had made an unsuccessful bid for Wainwright's seat two years ago.

Both he and Wainwright, who was a ranking member of the House Labor and Education Committee, are wealthy Ivy leaguers.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the controversial Negro minister-congressman, easily won again in his Harlem district.

Explanations Offered On Result of Election

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hatful of explanations are mixed up in Sen. John F. Kennedy's apparent victory over Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Tuesday's presidential election.

They range from the personal and political to television and tactics. At least the results seemed to explode the myth that a Roman Catholic couldn't be elected president.

Choice Not of Parties

1. The close vote showed what had been apparent throughout the campaign. There was no overwhelming enthusiasm for either man. The choice was between two men rather than between two parties.

But that the voters could and did choose sharply between parties was demonstrated by the results in the congressional races.

For the 13th time in the 15 elections since 1932 for House and Senate the Democrats were given control of Congress.

2. The congressional results indicate that if Kennedy had been a Republican he might have been whipped. For this reason: He probably benefited from voters who saw little to choose between him and Nixon but cast a straight Democratic ballot.

3. Something in Nixon's makeup hurt him. In an almost mystical way some voters said they were picking Kennedy because 'I don't like Nixon" although when asked why they couldn't say.

Some Help, Some Harm

4. Nixon undoubtedly got some benefit from being associated with President Eisenhower and his administration but it also handicaped him.

Because he had been part of it he couldn't be critical of it, even if he had wanted to. He defended the administration, and couldn't go much beyond its performance and programs in offering ideas of his own.

He was handcuffed in another way too. While Kennedy could offer unhindered and apparently popular liberal programs and promises, Nixon had to worry about pleasing both the liberal and conservative wings of his party.

This left him in the middle.

5. This middle position—which meant restraint in promises — allowed Kennedy to appear more farseeing, more earnest about the future, more on the move. Kennedy jibed at him for his middle ground role.

6. TV played an enormous part in the campaign since it gave the voters a chance to see the two candidates side by side, to examine their minds at work, and to form close-up impressions of both.

See Boner on Debate

7. Nixon pulled a political boner in appearing with Kennedy on TV and debating him. Nixon, because of his seven years with the Eisenhower administration, was known in every home.

Kennedy, outside his own Massachusetts, was a comparative unknown. But in the very first debate he not only landed side by side with Nixon in 70 million homes but, many thought, had much the better of it.

He became known across the land overnight.

8. Kennedy—with his more liberal programs of medical care for the aged, federal help with teachers' pay, a higher minimum wage —was able to appeal to groups whom the more restrained Nixon couldn't reach.

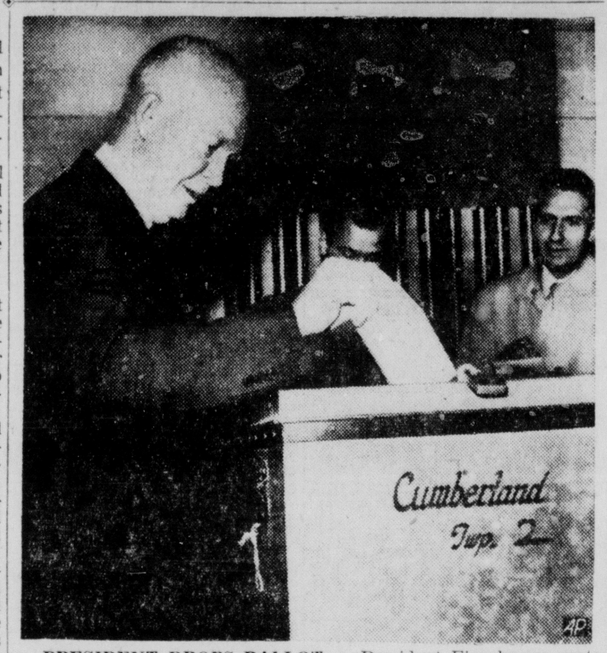

9. The business slump was perhaps a factor. Last April, long before the campaign, Nixon let it be known that if there was an economic downturn by election day he didn't think the Republicans could win. It did turn down.

Nixon More of Arguer

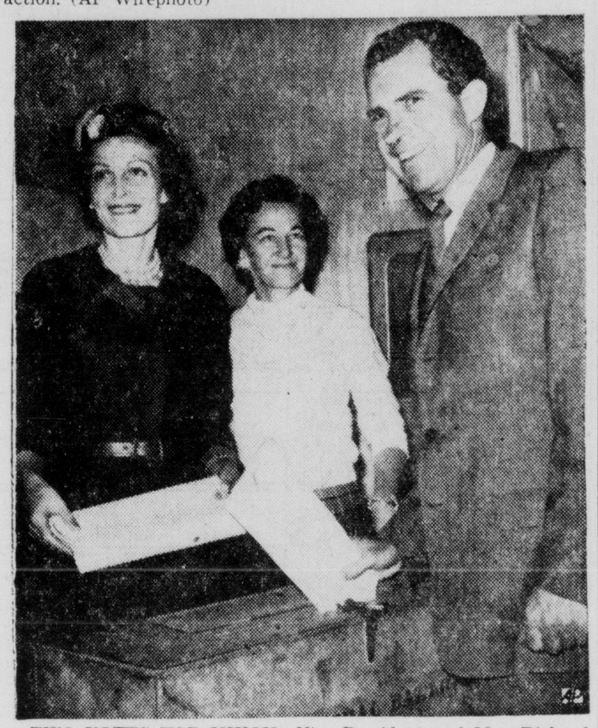

10. Nixon, long billed as a great debater, turned out to be more of an arguer. It worked to his disadvantage. In his incessant attempts to tear Kennedy down he helped build him up.

11. Kennedy, by preserving an even tone and temper, presented an image of himself as a man both serious and reliable. Nixon, self-consciously, played up to the listeners.

In his efforts to sound homey he frequently reduced his statements to the teen-age level, an effort which Nixon seemed to forget might offend many intelligent people. But, as he said, he didn't think most people paid attention to details.

Communist Giants Divided on President-Elect

Reaction Friendly In Moscow

Red China Sticks To Hate Policy

LONDON (AP)--The giants of the Communist world split today in their reaction to the election of John F. Kennedy. Moscow was friendly, Peiping hostile.

While most of the Free World looked to the U.S. president-elect for dynamic new leadership, Soviet Premier Khrushchev fired off a congratulatory telegram to Kennedy declaring readiness for "most friendly relations" and proposing negotiations on disarmament, Germany and other cold war issues.

Khrushchev Hopeful

Khrushchev, who blamed President Eisenhower for the U2 incident and collapse of the Paris summit, said he hoped Soviet-American relations "will again follow the line along which they were developing in Franklin Roosevelt's time."

Red China's official New China news agency, however, described the president-elect as a member of one of America's richest families and called him an advocate of military spending and war preparations.

The comment made clear that the election has not altered Peiping's hate-America policy.

Reflects Argument

The differing Red reactions reflected the Moscow-Peiping argument over peaceful coexistence—with Khrushchev holding that war is not inevitable because communism can triumph by peaceful competition, and the Red Chinese arguing that "just wars" are inevitable as long as capitalism exists.

Moscow's Pravda, the communist party newspaper, claimed American voters had rejected Vice President Richard M. Nixon because Republican policy had not conformed to "the interests of safeguarding peace." Moscow radio said some observers believed the new administration would make a "more realistic appraisal of the international situation."

The election of the first Roman Catholic president was received with satisfaction at the Vatican.

Pope John XXIII, in a congratulatory cable t Kennedy, prayed that "Almighty God may assist you" and expressed his good wishes to 'the beloved American people."

Fires Burn in Ireland

Along the coast of Ireland's County Wexford, from which Kennedy's great-grandfather emigrated during the famine of 1847, a chain of bonfires burned Wednesday night. The little town of Newross was gay with flags in celebration.

Most Western newspapers viewed the election in the light of the cold war and looked to Kennedy to put new life in the Western alliance.

'Big Sleep Ends'—London

"The big sleep ends" said a headline in London's conservative Daily Mail.

Stockholm Expressen, Scandinavia's largest newspaper, said

State Collects $4,965 in County For 80 Underpaid

Nearly $5,000 in minimum wage underpayments have been collected by the New York State Department of Labor, Albany, for employes in Ulster County over a nine-month period.

According to Edward J. Ray, assistant industrial commissioner, who said about three quarters of a million dollars was collected throughout the state, 80 workers in 33 Ulster County establishments received $4,965.

Between January 1 and September 30, a total of $715,081, from 5,712 establishments throughout the state, was channeled by the department to some 16,657 wage earners to whom the money was due.

Enforcement of minimum wage standards is a responsibility of the department's Division of Industrial Relations, which sends out field investigators.

Where an employe is found to be receiving wages less than minimum stipulated in the appropriate wage order, the department has authority to collect underpayments from the employer for the employe.

SENDING OUT TB SEALS—Beginning next week thousands of Ulster County residents will receive their 1960 Christmas seals from the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, according to the campaign chairman for the fourth year, Robert S. Russell of Saugerties. Miss Hazel Stead, executive director of the association, is shown helping fill one of mail pouches which will be picked up by Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk's forces before Saturday. Proceeds from the seals are used to help with projects of the association. (Freeman photo).

Red Congratulates Kennedy

K's Soft Words Point To Lull in Cold War

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev is already maneuvering for a summit conference with President-elect John F. Kennedy. He has begun with soft words and this probably signifies a lull in the cold war for the next several months.

Western diplomats here agree that Khrushchev's interest in resuming negotiations looking to a new summit meeting was behind the unusual message of congratulations which he dispatched to Kennedy Wednesday.

In his message, Khrushchev called for a return to the kind of Soviet-U.S. relations which existed in the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt at a time when the two countries were allied against Nazi Germany. But he went beyond that reference to the past.

He declared that in the interest of world peace the Soviet Union is ready "to continue the efforts to solve such a pressing problem as disarmament, to settle the German issue through the earliest conclusion of a peace treaty and to reach agreement on other questions."

"Any steps in this direction," he said in a sentence that could embrace both summit and diplomatic negotiations, "will always meet with the full understanding and support of the Soviet government."

Willing for Summit

Kennedy during the campaign declared himself willing to go to the summit but only on condition that "there is some reason to believe that a meeting of minds can be obtained on either Berlin, outer space, or general disarmament—including nuclear testing."

For the period immediately after the next president takes office Jan. 20 Kennedy said the president should focus on building up U.S. strength because "the Soviet Union does understand strength."

Neither in Kennedy's statement before the election nor in Khrushchev's new message is there any hint of changes in basis U.S. or Soviet policy.

Ready to Resume

Khrushchev has said repeatedly that he wants a peace treaty signed separately by East and West Germany, whereas the United States stands firm on a peace treaty signed by a united Germany. Khrushchev wants the western Allies to pull out of West Berlin. Kennedy, like Eisenhower, has pledged firm U. S. support for the continued independence of West Berlin from Communist rule.

What the friendly wording of the Khrushchev message does seem to mean is that the Soviet leader is prepared to resume active broadscale negotiations with a new U. S. administration on a variety of problems.

Two Teeners Get Stern Reprimand For Making Bombs

Two teenagers booked on charges dealing with the making and carrying of firecrackers or explosives considered to be small bombs because they were enclosed in metal, drew suspended jail sentences and stern reprimand from City Judge Aaron E. Klein Wednesday night, and were placed on probation.

A driver charged with leaving the scene of an accident in which two parked cars were damaged paid a $100 fine. He was Leo H. Simon, 49, of Norwalk, Conn., who police said drove a vehicle which struck and damaged the cars of Patsy Petromale, 47 Wurts Street, and Frank Petromale, 49 Wurts Street, while they were parked on that street Nov. 6.

Simon, the report said, drove a car owned by the Coliseum Drive-Ur-Self, Inc., 1850 Broadway, New York, and was apprehended in the Highland area.

Happened Halloween

Charges against the teenagers, John DeKoskie, 17, of 26 Snyder Avenue, and John DiMuccio, 17, of 68 Howland Avenue, police said, date back to Halloween night when police were called to a Hurley Avenue house after reported egg throwing on a porch. They were picked up on Hurley

Plan New Paltz Hearing For Two Schools Nov. 28

Officials of the New Paltz Central School district have planned a public hearing to be held in the high school auditorium on Nov. 28 to explain plans for two proposed new eight room schools and the purchase of sites, and also set Dec. 6 for voters to decide a $700,000 bond issue for the school program.

The League of Women's Voters will assist at the hearing during which residents of the district will have an opportunity to ask questions of district officials about the bond issue.

The new schools would accommodate children in grades K-6 according to plans.

The New Paltz Central School Board for the last 18 months made a study of school needs in the district and inspected sites for the schools, and during that period the board members obtained advice from the State Department of Education regarding the school building program.

Study Population Growth

A study of population growth in the district made by Joseph Foley, a school board member; Fred C. Dippel, supervising principal and Raymond Buckley, high school principal, showed the need within the next five years of at least 16 additional classrooms, it was said. The classrooms will be needed to permit the expansion of the high school and junior high school to the elementary wing of the present all-inclusive building, and to furnish classrooms for the growing

DeSapio Accepts Dems' Challenge

Warns Insurgents as Feud Breaks Open in Move to Change Leadership

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic National Committeeman Carmine G. DeSapio has accepted a post-election challenge from New York party insurgents and declares "if it's a war they want, they shall have it."

DeSapio also took a shot at Alex Rose, top strategist of the Liberal Party which can decide a close race between the Democrats and Republicans.

Lehman Leads Blast

The long feud between the Democratic party regulars and insurgents broke into open warfare again less than 24 hours after the Democrats, aided by the Liberal Party, delivered the state's vital 45 electoral votes to Sen. John F. Kennedy.

There had been a truce between the Democratic factions, and the organization and insurgent groups waged separate campaigns for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

But a few hours after the polls closed there were new blasts from the insurgent camp—led by Herbert H. Lehman, former governor and U.S. Senator; Thomas K. Finletter, former Air Force secretary, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Claims Major Share

Lehman announced that his group was ending the truce. His statement also claimed a major share of credit for the state Democratic victory for the Citizens for Kennedy Committee which worked with the insurgents.

Irving M. Engel, an official of the insurgent group called the New York Committee for Democratic Voters, declared: "The truce is over...We must take up the cudgels again to change the leadership of the Democratic party in the state and county."

He referred to New York County (Manhattan) where DeSapio is party chief as leader of Tammany Hall.

Both Engel and Lehman said New York State Democrats could not support Kennedy's programs properly unless they got new leadership.

Faction Charges Bossism

The insurgents charge bossism under the leadership of DeSapio and Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast.

DeSapio, angered by the post election insurgent declarations, issued this statement late Wednesday:

"The time has come to stop coddling those who, resting on past laurels, resort to deceit and demoguery as they permit themselves to be used by opportunists who desire to rule or to ruin the Democratic Party.

"They will neither rule or ruin

Civil War Hero Monument Here Dedicated in 1890

Veterans organizations will conduct memorial services at 11 a. m. Friday in front of the World War I tablet near the Soldiers and Sailors monument in front of City Hall, which was dedicated on Oct. 22, 1890, and at 8 p. m. at Academy Green, Albany Avenue, in observance of Veterans Day.

Both programs are under sponsorship of the Kingston Veterans Association in memory of citizens who served their country in times of war.

Sullivan Gives Account

In view of the observance of Veterans Day, City Historian Joseph F. Sullivan today recalled that the Soldiers and Sailors monument on the lawn in front of City Hall was dedicated 70 years ago to those who served their country during the Civil War.

The historian said an article published Oct. 22, 1890 in the Kingston Daily Freeman read in part, "This day, selected for the unveiling of the monument erected to commemorate the historic deeds of the soldiers and sailors of Ulster County who bore arms in the great Civil War, was one of the most beautiful of the year."

On that day, people from all

Board Discusses Site Wanted For Gas Station, Dock Repair

Further consideration of requested use of the Ingalls and Saccoman properties, Broadway and Franklin Street as a gas station site was left with Mayor Edwin F. Radel and other officials after discussion at a Board of Public Works meeting Wednesday night.

The board also considered repair of crumbling dock frontage along Dock Street at a cost of slightly more than $30,000 and will seek Common Council approval of a first phase of the project.

Discussion of the dock problem followed a proposal from Island Dock, Inc. It was noted that some 400 feet of the dock needs repair, and upon Mayor Radel's suggestion the board favored doing the first 100 feet at an estimated cost of $8,000 with Common Council approval.

Sections of the dock front along the street, which in recent years is heavily traveled by trucks and other vehicles, are being dangerously eroded and undermined.

Loss of curbing and parking space along Broadway were points of discussion dealing with use by the American Oil Co., Albany Avenue Extension, of properties owned by Mary H. Ingalls, and Anthony P. F. and Thomas Saccoman, for operation of a gasoline service station.

Attorney John J. Schick represented Amoco, and several com-

DEDICATED 70 YEARS AGO—The Soldiers and Sailors monument (above), dedicated to those who served in the nation's Civil War was dedicated 70 years ago, it is recalled by Joseph F. Sullivan, city historian, in view of the fact that Friday is Veterans' Day, when veterans organizations will hold memorial services here. One program will take place at 11 a. m. in front of the World War I tablet, near the older monument, at City Hall. The other is scheduled for 8 p. m. at Academy Green, Albany Avenue. President Offers Meeting

No Kennedy Reply Yet To Ike on Transition

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower offered today to meet with President-elect John F. Kennedy "at any mutually convenient time" to arrange an orderly transfer of governmental power.

The President also said he would welcome meetings between designated Kennedy representatives and those of the Eisenhower administration, particularly Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Suggests Aide Be Sent

In a message sent from his vacation headquarters, Eisenhower suggested that Kennedy send an aide to meet with the White House chief of staff, Wilton B. Persons to make the arrangements.

"I would like you to know that I stand ready to meet with you at any mutually convenient time to consider problems of continuity of government and an orderly transfer of executive responsibility on January 20 from my administration to yours," the President said.

Eisenhower sent this message Wednesday in a telegram to Kennedy at his Hyannis Port, Mass., headquarters. Press secretary James Hagerty made it public this morning after an expected Kennedy reply had not arrived in time to be released simultaneously with the President's wire.

Hagerty told newsmen he understood Kennedy's answer—pre-

Po'keepsie Votes Police, Firemen Salary of $6,300

Poughkeepsie voters on Tuesday approved by a vote of 5,676 to 5,405, a plurality of 271, a career pay plan for the city's police and fire departments which will boost their present maximum $5,250 pay of firemen and patrolmen to $6,300 a year.

The new career plan for police and firemen will bring their base pay up to $6,300 a year after 15 years of service. However, men who have served that much time on the job will receive increases of $1,050 a year immediately.

Third in 11 Years

The increase approved Tuesday is the third in 11 years won by police department members in referendums.

A $500 annual increase in pay requested by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association on Nov. 8, 1949, was approved by a vote of 6,671 to 2,829, a plurality of 3,842. On Nov. 8, 1955, the PBA asked that salaries of experienced men be increased from $4,108 a year to $5,000 and the proposition was approved by a vote of 4,798 to 3,494, a plurality of 1,304.

325,000 Is Kennedy's Edge Now

Count Continuing In Calif., Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite a dwindling popular margin from a record voter turnout, Sen. John F. Kennedy held 300 electoral votes today as he prepared to take over the presidency 71 days hence.

With counting continuing in California and Alaska, Kennedy had captured 22 states with 300 electoral votes—31 more than the needed 269. Vice President Richard M. Nixon took control in 25 states with 188 votes. Eight electors in Mississippi and six in Alabama were not committed.

May Be Less Than Majority

But in the popular vote, Kennedy held a margin of less than 325,000 votes in a tally of more than 66 million for the major party candidates. With returns yet to come and tallies for minor parties, it appeared that Kennedy's presidential victory might come on less than a majority of the popular vote cast. His 50.2 per cent of the popular vote made it the tightest election since the first Benjamin Harrison-Grover Cleveland race in 1888. Republican Harrison won an electoral victory then while running more than 100,000 behind in popular vote.

Plans already were under way for Kennedy representatives to work with administration officials in arranging for the changeover next Jan. 20.

Foreseeing a "difficult and challenging" period during the next four years, Kennedy said Wednesday that "there is general agreement by all our citizens that a supreme national effort is needed to move this country through the 1960s."

To Devote All Energies

"All of our energies will be devoted to the interests of the United States and the cause of freedom around the world."

Working with him will be a Democratic-controlled Congress in which, however, Republicans will show some gains over the present lineup. For the last six years, Congress and the White House have been controlled by different parties.

Tuesday's election provided a Senate makeup of 64 Democrats and 36 Republicans to replace the 66-34 division of the present Senate. With tabulations in five House races incomplete, the Democrats had elected 257 members and the Republicans 175. The old line-up, including vacancies, was 283-154.

Supervisors Will Meet Tonight, 8

The first meeting of the annual session of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the court house.

Included in this evening's business will be numerous "routine" matters in preparation to the conduct of the annual business. Among them will be the suspension of the rule which requires that a resolution calling for an appropriation be held over one meeting before it may be voted upon. Suspension of the rule will permit a vote on the same night the resolution is introduced.

Proposed equalization rates for the townships and the City of Kingston will also come before the meeting this evening for approval. In recent years the state rate has been accepted.

Whether the Community College matter will be before tonight's session is uncertain.

Senate House Assn. Posts Go to Hasbrouck, Kaplan

Gov. Rockefeller today named Kenneth E. Hasbrouck of Forest Glen, New Paltz, a trustee of the Senate House Association to replace Mrs. Harriet Allen Kerr of New Paltz, whose term expired in October.

The governor also reappointed Harry Kaplan of Kingston. Both appointments are for terms ending Oct. 9, 1965.

Hasbrouck, a teacher in the Wallkill Central School, is president of the Ulster County Historical Society and the Huguenot Historical Society of New Paltz Inc. Secretary-treasurer of the Ulster County Chapter of the Holland Society, he also serves as historian for the town and village of New Paltz and the towns of Gardiner and Shawangunk.

Kaplan, well-known business and civic leader in Kingston, has served 10 terms as president of the Ulster County Board of Health and has been a member of that board since its creation in 1946. Active in veteran and fraternal groups, he is a member of Elks, American Legion, B'nai B'rith, 40-8 Voiture Locale 381 and Wicks Hose Company No. 4.

He has served as vice president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, president of Kingston Fire Board and secretary of the Board of Public Works.
